RANDOM RANTS, RAVES & THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

Is It Cruel Or Is It Funny?

After a few attempts to bring back the reality hoax comedy series The Joe Schmo Show, TBS premiered the revival on Tuesday, Jan. 21. Hosted by Cat Deeley, the show within a show takes aim at the absurdity of reality TV by making Ben, an electrician from Baltimore, believe he is competing for a chance to win $100,000 on a popular game show when he is, in fact, surrounded by a cast of highly skilled improv comedians. Like the Jim Carrey movie The Truman Show and Amazon Freevee's hit series Jury Duty, poor Ben is in for the surprise of his life. Each of the series' 10 episodes provides a groundbreaking, behind-the-scenes look as the actors and entire working crew scramble to keep Ben from discovering the hoax, something made more difficult by the increasingly over-the-top format of the show.

"9-1-1: Lone Star" To End This Month

While there's a massive emergency at hand with an asteroid heading for Austin, there's quite a bit for 9-1-1: Lone Star to wrap up before the series ends on Monday, Feb. 3. In addition to whether Owen (Rob Lowe) might take that job offer and what's next for Judd (Jim Parrack) and his drinking, there's the matter of T.K. (Ronen Rubinstein) and Carlos (Rafael Silva) adopting T.K.'s half brother Jonah, as well as what's ahead for the rest of the first responders. "The thing that I can say is that everyone in the last two episodes gets pushed to their extreme limit — and some past it, to be honest," shared co-showrunner Rashad Raisani to TVinsider.com. "We have some of our most insane apocalyptic emergencies in [those final episodes]. It's basically a combination of The Last of Us and Chernobyl. It mirrors where all the characters are, and most of them are in an apocalyptic space for one reason or another."

WHAT'S MY LINE?

The original version of this game show aired on CBS from Feb. 2, 1950-Sept. 3, 1967. Moderated by John Daly, it had celebrity panelists like Dorothy Kilgallen and Arlene Francis questioning everyday contestants to guess their job (with an occasional famous "mystery guest" thrown into the mix).

Also up for Album of the Year are André 3000, Charli XCX and Jacob Collier.

An Original Coach Returns To "The Voice"

Maroon 5 frontman Adam Levine returns to The Voice for the hit series' 27th season beginning Monday, Feb. 3. Joining Levine will be Kelsea Ballerini, John Legend and Michael Bublé. "Season 27, yes, I'm coming back," Levine said on an Instagram post. "I'm so excited. I cannot wait. I'm well rested. I'm ready to go. I'm a little nervous ... I'm not nervous, but I'm so excited, and it's going to be great. I can't wait. It's gonna be awesome ... Team Adam is back, and I feel bad for the other teams. Let's go." Levine exited the series following Season 16 (May 2019) after winning three times (Season 1, 5 and 9).

America's sweethearts: Travis Kelce of the Kansas City Chiefs and Taylor Swift of everything else

SUPER BOWL: TAKE YOUR LIX

By Ryan A. Berenz

What's All This? Super Bowl LIX, the NFL's championship game for the 2024 season, is played Sunday, Feb. 9, at Caesars Superdome in New Orleans. The Big Easy is hosting its 11th Super Bowl, tying with Miami for the most all time.

What's LIX In Regular Numbers? 59.

Will Taylor Swift Be Involved? While the conference champions weren't set as of presstime, the reigning back-to-back champion Kansas City Chiefs, and thusly pop megastar Taylor Swift, had a roughly 36.4% chance to reach the Super Bowl. The Buffalo Bills' chances of winning the AFC were about 33.3%, though they will undoubtedly find a heartbreaking way to reduce that to zero.

Is It On TV? FOX airs the game with play-by-play man Kevin Burkhardt and analyst Tom Brady (he loves Super Bowls) in the broadcast booth, and Erin Andrews and Tom Rinaldi reporting.

How Many People Watch It? Super Bowl LVIII, in which the Chiefs beat the San Francisco 49ers in a 25-22 overtime thriller, had an average audience of 123.7 million on all platforms and became the most-watched program ever.

Who's Singing Stuff? The national anthem will be performed by multi-hyphenate music star and Louisiana native Jon Batiste, while hip-hop icon Kendrick Lamar gets the halftime stage. Special halftime guest performers weren't announced, but Drake would be hilarious.

How Much For A Commercial? A 30-second ad costs just upward of a cool $7 million, and FOX reportedly sold out all spots back in November. Get ready to suddenly crave Stella Artois, Coors Light, Mountain Dew, NerdWallet, Pringles, Totino's Pizza Rolls, Reese's, Ritz, Taco Bell, Jeep, Instacart, Dove, Hellmann's, Nerds candies, Skechers, Doritos, Coffee mate, Häagen-Dazs and more.

What's On FOX After? Season 3 of quiz show The Floor, hosted by Rob Lowe, can be watched by those still capable of opening their eyelids.

5 QUESTIONS
WITH TAMARA TUNIE OF CBS' "BEYOND THE GATES"

By Jacqueline Cutler

If every experience leads to where you are right now, Tamara Tunie knows she is precisely in the right place. It takes age and presence to play her next role.

She's about to make history by starring in the first Black soap opera, Beyond the Gates. The CBS weekday series is the first Black one-hour daytime drama. Premiering Monday, Feb. 24, it's also the first new daytime soap since Passions in 1999.

Tunie knows the rigors of this world — she spent 20 years playing Jessica Griffin on As the World Turns and 21 years on Law & Order: SVU as Dr. Melinda Warner. She's also worked in theater and film, including Wall Street and I Wanna Dance With Somebody. Speaking from a friend's home in Charleston, South Carolina, Tunie answers our "5 Questions."

1 How would you describe your character, Anita Dupree? Fabulous. Anita Dupree is a matriarch. She is a lioness. She is passionate about her family, from her children to her grandchildren to — I just learned — I now have great-grandchildren.

2 Why is this series important? The historical component of this show, at this time, is a tremendous one. It is the first time that an hour daytime drama is centered around a generationally wealthy African American family. And that has never been done in the history of television, daytime or nighttime. In the times that we are now in, the climate in this country, I think it's important that this family is front and center because, in the depiction of African Americans throughout the history of television, there has never been this, a family of generational wealth.

3 What were some of your other jobs when starting out? My survival gig was office work because I learned to type in seventh grade, and I was pretty good at it. The beauty of it is there were so many actors who were doing temp work that the corporations knew that if you had an audition, for the most part, they would allow you; they would usually schedule it on your lunch break.

4 What's your ideal day? My ideal day usually is Sunday, when I'm watching football from noon till 11 o'clock at night.

5 Tell us about a time when were you starstruck. I came to New York in the fall of 1981, and in January of 1982, I joined the cast of Lena Horne: The Lady and Her Music on Broadway. Not only was I starstruck, I was completely in awe of this woman, not only because I knew the legend, I knew her legacy and her history and her career. But also watching her perform every single night, giving 200% no matter how she was feeling that day. And she was in her [mid 60s] at this point. I would stand in the wings and just watch and learn from someone who had an extraordinary journey, from a teenager at the Cotton Club to going out to Hollywood, and constantly dealing with discrimination and constantly being told no, and yet, here she was triumphant on Broadway. So that is one of the most meaningful experiences and was part of defining who I would become as a performer myself and as an artist myself, because I learned from that woman, the show must go on in a real way.

Complete 2025 NASCAR SCHEDULE

Joey Logano's average finish in 2024 was 17.1, the lowest of any Cup Series champion, but he won when it mattered most

Joey Logano capped off his third career Cup Series championship with a win at Phoenix in November, putting him alongside legends Lee Petty, David Pearson, Darrell Waltrip, Cale Yarborough and Tony Stewart. Here's what to watch for when Logano and his Cup Series cohorts get the 2025 season rolling:

Stewart-Haas Closes Shop The closure of Stewart-Haas Racing's four-car team after the 2024 season has had a ripple effect throughout the sport. Among the notable shifts, Shane van Gisbergen now drives the No. 88 Chevy full time for Trackhouse Racing. Chase Briscoe drives the No. 19 Toyota for Joe Gibbs Racing, taking over for the retired Martin Truex Jr. Ryan Preece climbs into the No. 60 Ford for RFK Racing. Ty Dillon drives the No. 10 (formerly the No. 31) Chevy for Kaulig Racing. 23XI Racing expands to three cars with the No. 35 Toyota driven by Riley Herbst. Michael McDowell joins Spire Motorsports as the driver of the No. 71 Chevy.

Clash At The Madhouse The NASCAR Clash, held for the past three years inside the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, moves to North Carolina's Bowman Gray Stadium (Feb. 2, FOX) for the preseason exhibition race. Known as the "Madhouse," the short track last hosted a Cup Series race in 1971. Speedweeks at Daytona International Speedway continue with the two Duels qualifying races (Feb. 13, FS1), setting the stage for the famed Daytona 500 (Feb. 16, FOX).

Prime Summer Five Cup Series races stream exclusively on Prime Video, beginning with the Coca-Cola 600 (May 25) Memorial Day weekend race at Charlotte Motor Speedway.

South Of The Border The Cup Series races its first international points event since 1958 when teams take to Autódromo Hermanos Rodríguez in Mexico City (June 15, Prime Video). The 17-turn, 2.674-mile road course was on the Xfinity Series schedule from 2005-08.

Tournament On TNT TNT airs NASCAR races for the first time since 2014 when the new in-season tournament begins June 28 at the Atlanta Motor Speedway night race. In this bracket-style event, the top 32 drivers from the three previous races battle over five weeks with the winner claiming a $1 million prize July 27 at the Brickyard 400 at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

THE TOP 12

A QUICK RUNDOWN OF WHAT TO WATCH THIS MONTH

Stephen Amell

1 SUITS LA

Sundays beginning Feb. 23 on NBC

NEW SERIES!

The fast-talking, backstabbing, eclectic world of Suits is returning to TV screens this month with a spinoff set on the opposite coast with a new set of characters. The original series in the franchise, which aired from 2011-19, starred Gabriel Macht as Harvey Specter, New York's best lawyer, who partners with a brilliant college dropout in trouble with the law (Patrick J. Adams as Mike Ross). The series recently saw a huge resurgence in popularity after Netflix acquired it in 2023, as well as for having Meghan Markle, the current Duchess of Sussex, in its cast. Suits became the most streamed show of 2024 on Netflix. Fans of the original will be happy to learn that Macht will be reprising his role as Harvey Specter in a three-episode arc, as an acquaintance of new protagonist Ted Black, played by Stephen Amell, who has ditched his Arrow cape and Heels singlet to play the former NYC federal prosecutor who does an about-face and moves out to California to open his own law firm. Amell recently caught up with us to talk Suits LA and suits.

How close is this show going to be to the original?
Stephen Amell: There are going to be elements of it that are different because it's set in a different world, and we are tackling different things. This is entertainment law, by and large. Some of the situations that you get into with entertainment law are pretty innately and naturally comedic. But the pacing, the sensibility — there are going to be elements that people recognize, and some people might think that we're trying to copy it. We're not trying to copy it. It's made by all the same people. That same vibe exists, and it exists because it worked the first time. We're not trying to replace anything. We're just trying to make a fun show that people will enjoy.

Can you tell us a bit more about what's behind Ted's move from New York to Los Angeles? Ted was a federal prosecutor and was dealing with organized crime in New York and was very happy there. And then a certain situation just went the wrong way for him, personally and professionally, and really blew up his world. When we meet Ted in the flashbacks, he almost mocks entertainment law. So, to see him where he is now in the present day, clearly something pretty drastic has happened.

How would you describe Ted's relationship to Suits' Harvey Specter? Well, we both came up in the district attorney's office, played a little baseball together, and beyond that, we don't really know the extent of their friendship. Are they good friends? Were they acquaintances? Were they professional rivals, personal rivals? All of that stuff will be revealed.

Obviously, one former cast member is now British royalty, so a return is unlikely, but are there any plans to bring back any other characters from the original Suits? Honestly, I don't think you should ever say "never" in this business. But beyond Gabriel, I don't know, actually. As a fan of the original show, I would obviously love to work with any of the cast members from the original.

What types of clients does he represent? Ted represents the best of the best. The people that we've name-dropped thus far are Denzel [Washington], Matt Damon, Doug Liman, Leonardo DiCaprio and Tom Hanks. I don't know if there's a design behind that or if we're really just trying to throw around names. In the pilot, we had John Amos playing himself, and then he obviously very tragically passed away some months ago.

What's Ted's moral compass? How far is he willing to go? He's willing to go far, but he does like to stay within the parameters of the law. He is maybe better able to compartmentalize the human element of things. But this is the world of Suits and this is the world of inter-office drama and politics and romance. He puts on a brave face for a lot of people, but behind the scenes, behind closed doors, there's a version of Ted that he does not let anyone see. And that's, for me personally, the most interesting part of the character.

This is a very different role for you, in terms of costuming anyway. How are you enjoying the change, and do you have a favorite suit yet? I'm enjoying the change a lot. It's very, very easy to feel like the coolest guy in the room when you're wearing a bespoke suit that has been tailored within an inch of its life. My favorite so far is a beautiful Tom Ford suit. It's a little thicker and it's just an immaculate cut. The problem is that after wearing the suits of Ted Black for a month, I went out with my wife to a suit-and-tie dinner, and I grabbed my suit that I had at home, and I felt like an idiot. The degree to which a suit suits a person has precious little to do with the amount of money that it costs, or the designer. It really comes down to "Has it been properly fitted to your body?" — Zhanna Slor

Leighton Meester, Clancy Brown and Luke Cook

2 GOOD COP/BAD COP

Wednesdays beginning Feb. 19 on THE CW

NEW SERIES!

In this comedic crime procedural set in small-town Washington, estranged siblings Lou (Leighton Meester) and Henry (Luke Cook) are suddenly thrown together as partners by their father (Clancy Brown), the chief of police. Complicating things — but adding a good dose of humor — is that Henry is a bit of an oddball; he's hyperintelligent but lacking in social awareness. "Henry is so refreshing because of his bluntness and speaking his mind and there being no sensitivity about anything," says Aussie actor Cook about his character. "Obviously that's not a great thing all the time, but it is refreshing and necessary, especially when you think about a detective who needs to figure things out. My favorite thing about Henry is he's always thinking two steps ahead of everybody and he will step on anybody's toes in order to figure out the truth."

All the characters are a bit quirky, which makes the underfunded police department and the crimes they solve more entertaining, but underneath it all, the somewhat dysfunctional family of three (plus their dad's also-blunt Russian girlfriend, played by Blazey Best) is at the heart of the show. "It's really more about family than it is about anything else," adds Cook. "We're solving a crime in every episode, but it's always about the relationship of Henry and Lou, who have really disliked each other for a long time, figuring out that they can work together really well and also upset each other the way that only siblings can do." — Zhanna Slor

3 YELLOWJACKETS

Sundays beginning Feb. 16 on SHOWTIME
(debuts on PARAMOUNT+ Friday, Feb. 14)
2-EPISODE SEASON PREMIERE!

"This is the most fun and exciting season yet. It's very smart and shocking — and people die," teases Christina Ricci, who plays the grownup version of pert but deadly people pleaser and perpetual outsider nurse Misty Quigley on the dual-timeline psychological horror thriller Yellowjackets. The series follows a high school soccer team (the Yellowjackets) stranded in the wilderness after a 1996 plane crash, and those same characters, post-rescue, 25 years later. The women are haunted by the secret cannibalism that kept them alive (to cover it up, they've killed again) and divided on the existence of a mysterious bloodthirsty entity that may have followed them out of the woods.

Misty, the odd one out of the oddball group, suffered another trauma in the second installment's finale, which aired in May of 2023. The survivors were gathered at unhinged guru Lottie's (Simone Kessell) spirituality retreat and things spiraled into them re-creating their teenage ritualistic hunt. The prey was stay-at-home mom Shauna (Melanie Lynskey). In the chaos, Misty accidentally fatally stabbed her imagined bestie, rebellious Natalie (Juliette Lewis), with a syringe of phenobarbital. Authorities blamed an accidental overdose; Lottie was taken to a psychiatric hospital; Misty's boyfriend Walter (Elijah Wood) poisoned a cop and framed him for the murder Shauna committed; and the Yellowjackets carried on with more to hide. Ricci previews what's next for Misty.

What's it like without Juliette on set?
Christina Ricci: I really miss her. She's wonderful, genuine and fun. We were all very bonded, like sisters.

We fought; we were friends. We spent hours and hours together, miserable, cold in the middle of the night out shooting. That bonds people.

How is Misty coping with Natalie's death? It's not the first time she accidentally killed a bestie. In the teen timeline, her confession to Crystal that she'd destroyed the plane's emergency beacon shocked her pal into backing off a cliff. She can't grieve when we see her in the beginning. Walter is trying to push her to grieve and get through that process. She goes to [Natalie's] storage unit [and] because she doesn't have a lot of healthy emotional intelligence, coping skills or self-awareness, decides that instead of grieving, she's going to keep Natalie alive in some way — dressing like Natalie [in her leather jacket] and [doing] what Natalie used to do, go to bars and drink and then … stuff happens. Misty misplaces her aggression for a bit of the season until she can find a focus.

Beware anyone in murderous Misty's crosshairs! Someone better warn the mysterious new character played by Hilary Swank, who looks pretty beaten up in photos from the set. What was it like to have her join the cast? I was really excited. I've always been a huge fan. She's such a wonderful actress and her performance in Million Dollar Baby is one of my favorite performances ever. When she came, everyone was like, "Oh, do you think she's going to be nice?" I was like, "It doesn't matter. She is a two-time Oscar winner! She doesn't have to be nice to us." She happens to be really lovely. So, great bonus.

Could her character be a threat? The teaser trailer implies someone is trying to kill the Yellowjackets. That is something that is said by characters in the show, but whether that is a major storyline or not is yet to be discovered.

Was anything challenging to shoot this season? The younger cast has a much worse time because they're always out in the woods and it's usually nighttime. We had a taste of it because that's where we shot the Juliette death scene. Wind will make me gag until I throw up. I don't like cold, rain. I had them convinced that we couldn't get my wig wet; then finally somebody found out that, no, you can. This season there was a lot of running at one point, and it made me very tired.

Season 2's 1996 timeline ended with a fire destroying the teens' only shelter, an abandoned cabin, in the middle of winter. Did you spend time with Sammi Hanratty, who plays the young Misty? We talked a little bit. Because it's Vancouver and I have kids and they're in L.A., I fly in, do my scenes, and I leave. I have one scene with one of the younger cast this year, and that was kind of amazing. It had never happened before.

Intriguing! What else is new for Misty? She's been smiling through rejection since the wilderness and before. I have difficulty sometimes playing the scenes where someone will be nasty to Misty, and it's like she doesn't hear it. This season there's going to be a lot more real emotional expression. [That's] easier to play. It makes sense when somebody's mean to me in a scene and I get to feel hurt and be nasty back. — Kate Hahn

4 THE WHITE LOTUS

Sundays beginning Feb. 16 on HBO

SEASON PREMIERE!

There's a body bag! Finding out who is in it will be the thrilling, twisted ride creator Mike White will take us on in his third go-round of this critically acclaimed anthology series. While we won't have the beloved Jennifer Coolidge, who appeared in Seasons 1 and 2, we will have an epic new cast, along with one familiar face and character. Belinda (Natasha Rothwell), who in Season 1 was the spa manager who Coolidge's character gave false hopes of opening her own business, is back and says she "gasped out loud no less than five times" reading the scripts. The eight-episode series finds three longtime friends (Leslie Bibb, Carrie Coon and Michelle Monaghan) reuniting for a girls trip at the White Lotus resort in Thailand. Walton Goggins is sure to add some color and hilarity as a rugged man with a chip on his shoulder, traveling with his girlfriend (Aimee Lou Wood). Jason Isaacs stars as a wealthy businessman vacationing with his wife (Parker Posey) and three children. If there's one thing for certain, it's never going to be what you expect as White promises "a satirical and funny look at death and Eastern religion and spirituality."

Melissa Roxburgh

5 THE HUNTING PARTY

Mondays beginning Feb. 3 on NBC

NEW SERIES!

When Melissa Roxburgh ended her four-season thrill ride as Michaela Stone on that lost flight of Manifest in 2023, she was quick to hop onboard her next twisted adventure as Bex Henderson, a former FBI profiler, in The Hunting Party.

"When we first meet Bex, she has been kicked out of the bureau, she's fallen from grace," tells Roxburgh. "Her former partner [Nick Wechsler, Revenge] did something, which was not so great, and as a result they both paid a consequence. It doesn't take long before things get rolling, and she's thrust back into this world tracking the most prolific serial killers, as they've all escaped from this secretive prison."

And then the roller coaster begins.

What this prison — called the Pit — is all about, who is running it and what they are doing with these heinous killers incarcerated is something Bex needs to wrap her head around. "The mystery of it gets bigger and bigger and more global," Roxburgh adds.

Playing an agent in two consecutive series is more than familiar to the star. "I'm an expert people-watcher, so I have my own little profiling abilities," she shares. "I love sitting at a restaurant and looking at everyone around the restaurant and wondering who's on a first date or who's doing what."

Roxburgh went to school "for a bit" for criminology, so there's that bone in her body. "I thought for a second that's the route that I wanted to take in life, and then I realized that's just a lot of paperwork, I'm sure. So, maybe not."

Plus, playing a profiler chasing serial killers is clearly far safer (less the appendicitis she had halfway through shooting).

As for those serial killer escapees? Writers were beyond creative with these narratives (think The Blacklist on steroids). Roxburgh has two that give her nightmares.

"They're all terrifying, but there's two that are scariest to me. The first one is Jess, and he comes in Episode 3. He's got this likeness of a child. And so that is a bit terrifying because you can't reason with this person the same way you'd reason with an adult. There's no rationale. It's just a child acting, which is terrifying," Roxburgh explains. "And then later in the season, we meet this guy named Tom, and the way this actor held himself and carried out this character, it was so creepy. There was little lip licks, and eye movements — just his mannerisms gave me the heebie-jeebies."

Roxburgh warns, however, that it's the ending where things really erupt, and you realize how deep this mystery truly goes. — Barb Oates

New survival series tests if contestants opt for fortune over family

7 EXTRACTED

Mondays beginning Feb. 10 on FOX

NEW SERIES!

When it comes to survival series, there's nothing more crippling to gameplay than emotions. FOX's Extracted is going to take full advantage of fear, pain and misery when they drop 12 civilians (these aren't folks who aspire to live outdoors) into the unforgiving Canadian wilderness, where they must survive grueling conditions, perilous terrain and serious threats from the predators who roam the land. In true Hunger Games style, their families will be watching their every move from a secluded headquarters via a 24/7 live feed. The catch is that they are the ones who have ultimate control — deciding if their loved one has what it takes to endure or if they need to press the "extract" button to save them.

"We set out to make a show about families, their dynamics and the responsibility we all feel to our loved ones when they face real danger," shares Brien Meagher, one of the executive producers on the show. "For that to work, we needed relatable 'everyday people' in the field who are outdoor capable but still reliant on their family members. That was the only way to ensure we're seeing difficult decisions made throughout. We looked for families that had the dynamics, aspirations and even some of the baggage we can all relate to — but that were willing to work together and reach outside of their comfort zone to hopefully win the ultimate challenge."

Each contestant has two family members (could be parents, siblings, aunts, etc.) back at headquarters tasked with assisting their survivalist to see this competition through. The survivalists start with literally just the clothes on their backs.

"It will be up to their family members in HQ to earn them the fundamental survival resources that they'll need to stay in the competition. Once earned, those lifesaving supplies are literally flown into the survival zone via a fleet of heavy-lift drones and dropped in the wild," Meagher shares.

While the families had to choose who on their three-person team would be the survivalist, they weren't informed on the level of strength and endurance that would be required nor what it would be like back at headquarters.

"Families had no idea they'd be watching in real time with the power to affect the outcomes. They were all shell-shocked walking into HQ," Meagher says. "The survivalists were given some basic lifesaving survival training before embarking due to the fact that the area we chose was so remote, subject to severe environmental conditions and was home to large predators."

The prize of $250,000 goes to the last remaining survivalist. Let's see if "family first" really is the motto, or if "family fortune" is a bit more attractive.

9 THE AMERICAS

Sundays beginning Feb. 23 on NBC

NEW SERIES!

"It's massive," says executive producer Mike Gunton as he describes how ambitious his new natural history series The Americas is. Looking back over his own nearly 40-year career in making series like this, he says this 10-episode program is the biggest in terms of scope, scale and number of episodes. But he also says, in general, "I don't think there's been anything of this scale made in a generation."

Tom Hanks

Given Gunton's previous acclaimed natural history series, like Planet Earth II and Dynasties, that is really saying something.

The size of The Americas befits its subject. It takes viewers on a journey across North and South America — the first time this "supercontinent" has been so thoroughly covered in a natural history program — from near the Arctic Circle, into the American West, through the Caribbean and Amazon, all the way down to near the South Pole, and places in between.

Gunton says each hourlong episode focuses on a kind of "hot spot" in the Americas. For example, the series premieres with the episodes "The Atlantic Coast" and "Mexico."

"These places have a real, genuine character," Gunton explains. "Within each of those hot spots there will be [animal] characters, and we, as we say, 'cast' the A-listers like a movie, but we also have some surprising B characters that will give some different insights into what that place is like. … We've gone to each of these locations and said, 'What's the defining cast of creatures that live here, and what are the defining stories that they can tell?'"

Those stories include, as Gunton reveals, amazing, never-before-seen blue whale behavior that even scientists are not fully able to explain, and a hilarious "love triangle" among blue-footed boobies (two males and one female) in Mexico.

Gunton says that the latter sequence with those birds was among the favorites for narrator Tom Hanks. Also on hand is Oscar- and Grammy-winning composer Hans Zimmer (The Lion King, Dune), who scored the series.

All of that, plus the fact that The Americas is an NBC property, marking the first time that a U.S. broadcast network has commissioned such a project (the BBC has acquired it for airing in Britain following its NBC premiere), enhances Gunton's further description of the series as "a celebration, but also a sense of treasuring what is very, very special.

"You're so fortunate in America that you have such a vast wilderness," he adds. "It can appear to be untouchable, but it isn't. It is fragile. …

"As Brits, we felt we could maybe hold a mirror to this to say, 'Do you know what you have here? I'm sure you do, but do you really know?' It's the most remarkable place on planet Earth, [and] I hope that people will fall in love with it again."
— Jeff Pfeiffer

Ben Rappaport, Aja Naomi King and AnnaSophia Robb

10 GROSSE POINTE GARDEN SOCIETY

Sundays beginning Feb. 23 on NBC

NEW SERIES!

Four members of a suburban garden club get caught up in murder and mischief in this new drama series starring Melissa Fumero, Aja Naomi King, AnnaSophia Robb and Ben Rappaport. "All four of them are close friends, but they all come from different walks of life," says Rappaport. "There's a murder at the center of this story and it's something no one wants to talk about. The idea is 'How did we get here?' The show kind of jumps back and forth through the timelines of spring and winter, and as the series goes along, you get to see sort of how things come together. It's a thriller, it's a dark comedy, it's escapist."

As for his character, Brett, Rappaport explains, "Brett is sort of the everyman. He's a father of two. He's a good guy. He's the manager of the garden store, and that's how he gets involved in the garden club. His real dream is to own a car restoration business, but that's been on hold because he recently got a divorce. He's sharing the kids with [his ex] and her new husband, and he's just trying to make things work. He's best friends with Alice, who's played by AnnaSophia Robb; they're both kind of stuck in their situations and they both have big dreams. He kind of carries a torch for Alice." — Zhanna Slor

11 CAN YOU FEEL THE BEAT: THE LISA LISA STORY

Saturday, Feb. 1 on LIFETIME
ORIGINAL FILM!

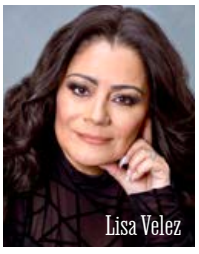
Jearnest Corchado as Lisa Lisa

You'll get "Lost in Emotion" watching Lisa Velez's inspiring and triumphant story about how she — a young Puerto Rican girl from Hell's Kitchen — never gave up on her dreams.

The youngest of 10 siblings raised by a single mother, Velez was just 15 years old when she started in the music industry, quickly rising to fame in the 1980s and becoming the first Latina artist — Lisa Lisa and Cult Jam — to hit multiple music Billboard charts with hits like "Can You Feel the Beat," "All Cried Out" and "Lost in Emotion." At 21, she was privately battling breast cancer and supporting her family financially, while inspiring young women worldwide with her music, energy and oh-so-fun fashions.

Velez, who now goes by just Lisa Lisa, serves as an executive producer for Can You Feel the Beat: The Lisa Lisa Story, as well as stars as her mother opposite Jearnest Corchado. Here she shares more on the touching film and her plans for 2025.

The tear-jerker moment: "The most memorable and emotional part for me in the movie was when I finally got to see my name up in lights. When I was maybe 9 or 10 years old, I remember walking past Radio City Music Hall with my mom and I begged her, 'Mommy, please, you got to help me. I want to see my name up in lights.' And she looked at me so calm and patient and said, 'Baby, you will.' And years later, for me to jump off the tour bus on the last stop on our tour, and to look up and see our name scrolling. I just threw myself on the floor and kissed the ground. I think that was the most surreal and emotional. I was nuts. I said, 'Oh man, I finally did it.'"



Lisa Velez

The road to fame was not easy and included questionable management and a private battle with cancer: "I have to say that all of that stress and work ethic that I went through made me who I am today. I don't regret going through any of it, but it's the music industry, it's business. They were looking to make their money. And I was there at the time; I was their moneymaker. It was never a question of how I was feeling: 'Are you sick? What's going on?' It was basically, 'Are you pregnant? You look swollen.' They didn't know. But I was going through my chemo. With all the medications and the steroids, I was swollen. It was just a lot. It was difficult. Today, I tell people, make sure that everything is in black and white, and get a lawyer."

Her family kept her driven: "My mom paid every bill by herself. So I was determined to make sure that I helped her in this life of mine, which she gave me, because she busted her ass for me. I needed to bust my ass for her. The love of what I do still to this day is what drives me to continue. It kept me moving."

Getting her first big paycheck: "I got my very first huge paycheck and I paid for everything. I took care of her, and I gave her the things that she needed that I felt she needed — a home, a car, whatever she needed. I made sure that I got that for her. And I felt so satisfied. I saw her face and that made me feel like I did the right thing. She was always and still is, rest her soul, my hero. But I felt like I was her hero at the time, and I just was so elated."

Her 40th anniversary tour and plans for 2025: "March 1 is the kickoff of our 40th anniversary tour. We have a slew of friends of mine — performers, artists — who are going to be on the show with us. We'll be changing up different artists, every city that we hit. And I also have a book, my memoir that will be released hopefully by the end of this year. So, we have a lot happening." — Barb Oates

31 Days of Oscar 2025 Begins

TCM, beginning at 6am

[CATCH A CLASSIC!]

Turner Classic Movies is again airing its popular annual event, 31 Days of Oscar, beginning today and running until the day after this year's Academy Awards ceremony, which airs live March 2 on ABC. The network continues to get fun and creative with how it presents its 31 Days of Oscar lineup each year. For 2025, each daytime will be scheduled with standard lineups of movies and/or stars who won or were nominated for Oscars in a particular category. All titles airing in primetime, though, will feature nominees or winners in an acting category where they played a character type highlighted on that evening. For example, this evening's lineup is themed around actors who were nominated or won for playing … actors. Among those titles are All About Eve (1950; Best Actress nominees Bette Davis and Anne Baxter), Singin' in the Rain (1952; Best Supporting Actress nominee Jean Hagen) and A Star Is Born (1937; Best Actor nominee Fredric March and Best Actress nominee Janet Gaynor). Leading into this themed block, in the morning and afternoon, are films that were nominated for or won Best Picture, including The Great Dictator (1940), 12 Angry Men (1957) and In the Heat of the Night (1967), among others.
