HAPPY ANNIVERSARY!

Notable TV series, episodes, networks and/or events marking anniversaries this month.

By Hannah Chester

75 YEARS AGO

THE GEORGE BURNS AND GRACIE ALLEN SHOW

After more than two decades on the radio, comedy duo and married couple George Burns and Gracie Allen brought their talents to CBS with the debut of this sitcom on Oct. 12, 1950. The series ran for eight seasons, ending in 1958 following Allen's retirement amid recurring health issues.

THE JACK BENNY PROGRAM

Comedian Jack Benny transitioned from radio to television with this CBS series that premiered on Oct. 28, 1950. The title character's stinginess and vanity about his age — which he always insisted was 39 — remained, as did his supposed inability to play the violin.

70 YEARS AGO

THE HONEYMOONERS

First seen on Cavalcade of Stars as a sketch in 1951, this sitcom created by and starring Jackie Gleason became its own series on CBS beginning Oct. 1, 1955. Gleason's New York bus driver Ralph Kramden and his best friend/upstairs neighbor Ed Norton regularly schemed to strike it rich, much to the chagrin of their wives, Alice and Trixie.

Countdown To Christmas

Hallmark Channel and the Grand Ole Opry are setting the stage for a magical trip across time with A Grand Ole Opry Christmas, a new original movie starring Nikki DeLoach (Curious Caterer Mysteries) and Kristoffer Polaha (A Biltmore Christmas), premiering this year during Hallmark Channel's 16th annual Countdown to Christmas programming event. While the premiere date for that film has yet to be announced, Hallmark will officially kick off the Countdown on Friday, Oct. 17. Part of this year's festivities are a new season of Finding Mr. Christmas; a new Hallmark holiday rom-com series, Twelve Dates 'Til Christmas starring Mae Whitman; a new Holiday Touchdown film, this time focused on the Buffalo Bills; a new Three Wise Men movie starring Paul Campbell, Tyler Hynes and Andrew Walker; and so much more.

The CW Extends Broadcast Partnership With Pac-12

The CW Network and the Pac-12 Conference announced an extension of their broadcast partnership beginning with the new Pac-12's launch for the 2026-27 season and continuing through the 2030-31 season. The CW will televise 13 regular-season football games per year. In addition, the partnership adds regular-season action for men's and women's basketball with 35 men's games and 15 women's games, as well as the semifinal and championship games for the new Pac-12 women's basketball tournament. The new Pac-12 will kick off during the 2026-27 season with Boise State, Colorado State, Fresno State, Gonzaga, Oregon State, San Diego State, Texas State, Utah State and Washington State.

"Yellowstone" Spinoff Gets A Name

The new Paramount+ spinoff centered on Beth Dutton (Kelly Reilly) and Rip Wheeler (Cole Hauser) has a name (The Dutton Ranch) and recently cast Annette Bening in a major role. What they don't have is a release date.

THE ANDY GRIFFITH SHOW

KEITH URBAN HITS THE ROAD

What Does It Really Take To Make It In The Music World? By Alyssa Norwin

"I'll be honest, I wasn't exactly dying to do another singing show," admits Blake Shelton, who was a coach on The Voice for 23 seasons before departing in 2023. So why did the country superstar want to join the brand-new competition series The Road, debuting on CBS Sunday, Oct. 19?

"[Executive producer] Lee Metzger and I started kicking around this idea: What if we built a show that actually looked like what it takes to make it as an artist?" Shelton explains. "Sleeping on buses, playing for crowds that didn't buy a ticket to see you, writing songs that may or may not pay the bills. That's real."

The series follows 12 emerging artists opening up for Keith Urban — who was previously a judge on American Idol for four seasons and on Australia's version of The Voice for three — in music venues across the country. Throughout the season, Shelton, along with Yellowstone cocreator Taylor Sheridan and other soon-to-be-announced country stars, will join Urban and Grammy winner Gretchen Wilson to guide the artists as they perform for the live audiences that will determine whether they move on to the next city. At the end of the show, one of them will walk away with a record contract and $250,000.

While it's a nice bonus, Shelton advises that winning isn't everything. "This show starts where others end, which is on tour," he says. "The goal is to build a real fan base out there with Keith's crowd. If you can do that, then keep it going. Keep writing. Keep playing. Keep grinding. Don't sit around waiting on a hit record to magically change your life."

5 QUESTIONS WITH ROBERT HERJAVEC FROM "SHARK TANK"

By Jacqueline Cutler

Robert Herjavec is glowing — from a sunburn. He got it today when his boat broke down and he was on a lake for hours, without his phone, thinking he was going out for a jaunt.

Instead, he lost hours and apologizes sincerely for missing his initial interview. An original investor on Shark Tank, returning for its 17th season on ABC Wednesdays beginning Sept. 24, Herjavec was also first on its predecessor, Dragons' Den, the original reality business show in Canada. After being stranded on Lake Muskoka in Ontario, he answers our "5 Questions."

1 Why do you love being a Shark, when you don't need to do anything you don't love? When a 14-year-old comes up to you, or somebody comes up to you, and tells you how much you've changed their life and inspired them, it really motivates all of us. In this world where there is so much bad, when you can do good for others, how great does that make you feel?

2 What was the most disappointing deal you struck on Shark Tank? There's a deal that Barbara [Corcoran, a fellow Shark] and I did called Grease Monkey, and it was a cleaning fluid with highly concentrated lemon juice. You're in a garage, and you have to clean your hands, you have to use this industrial stuff. They invented this product that really did the same thing as this chemical compound with pure lemon juice, and we loved it. They were on fire. But then the entrepreneur wanted to go back to university, and Barbara and I both ended up getting our money back. We were both disappointed, because the potential of that business was really great.

3 What's your ideal day? Any day that involves spending time with my kids and my wife. I am all about energy and joy, and any element of love and joy that I get to spend with my kids is goodness. Sprinkle it with some exercise and some business-oriented stuff, and I'm in heaven.

4 Tell us a time when you were starstruck. I used to race cars at a very high level, and I was racing at the Austin Grand Prix and actually won that race. I raced for Ferrari, and there was a big concert after and Kid Rock, who I'm a big fan of — forget the political, whether you agree with him or not — and I was in the audience. And he stopped the concert and had me come up onstage and sing a song with him, and just to show you how gracious he is, I can't sing at all!

5 What was an early job that affected you? The first job I had was delivering newspapers (The Globe and Mail) at 12, and it wasn't the job for me, it was watching my mom get up at 5:30 in the morning to drive me to pick up the newspapers. I think I did that job for about a month and a half, and I have this very clear epiphany of how loved I was to have my mom do that for me. And I think that really instilled in me, "Gosh, I better make something of myself, because, like, my parents didn't have a lot, but she got up there every morning to help me."

THE TOP 13

A QUICK RUNDOWN OF WHAT TO WATCH THIS MONTH

1 IT: WELCOME TO DERRY

Sundays beginning Oct. 26 on HBO

NEW SERIES!

Filmmaking siblings Andy and Barbara Muschietti have been lifelong horror fans, so bringing Stephen King's legendary 1986 novel It to life was more than a passion project — it was a dream come true (under their aptly named production company, Double Dream). After terrifying audiences with their blockbuster two-part film adaptation in 2017 and 2019 — both directed by Andy — they're diving even deeper into the nightmare with IT: Welcome to Derry. The prequel series, produced along with Jason Fuchs, is an epic story that expands far beyond the original films and shares King's novel in greater depths with all its heart, humor, humanity and horror.

"I was 6 and Barbie was 7 or 8 and we had just moved to a new house," shares Andy, about the siblings' introduction to horror. "For some reason this showcase of horror movies started playing on TV on Saturday nights [in Argentina], and we were stuck to the TV every Saturday night watching whatever horror movie was on."

Barbara laughs, adding that they watched on a tiny black-and-white TV ("we didn't get a color TV until like 1983").

"We saw the most shocking things, but it was exhilarating," Andy says of their childhood viewing. "We developed a devotion for this genre very early on."

IT: Welcome to Derry; Courtesy of HBO

That devotion has been unwavering and amped up even more as they deliver an intense, movie-like experience with every episode of Welcome to Derry. The prequel takes us back to 1962 Derry, Maine, where the shape-shifting, razor-toothed supernatural entity (Bill Skarsgård reprises his role) continues to feast upon the children — showing up in umpteen different incarnations before it appears in the shape of Pennywise the clown. Warning: About seven minutes into Episode 1, buckle up for one of the most grotesquely shocking scenes of body horror to date (a favorite of Andy's to film). The nine-episode first season is inspired by one of King's interludes about the hate-crime burning of the Black Spot nightclub.

"It's a big paroxysm of violence that not only reflects the darkness of the story in the book, but also is a bit of a reflection of the violence that happened in America and all the implications of racial tension and segregation that happened back in those days," Andy explained.

The series starts with the introduction of Gen. Leroy Hanlon and his wife Charlotte (Jovan Adepo and Taylour Paige), who move to Derry with their children just in time for the newest wave of disappearances to begin. The series will also share the story of a younger Dick Hallorann (Chris Chalk), from King's The Shining, whose supernatural gift becomes a major part of Derry.

Here the duo shares a bit more on what to brace for:

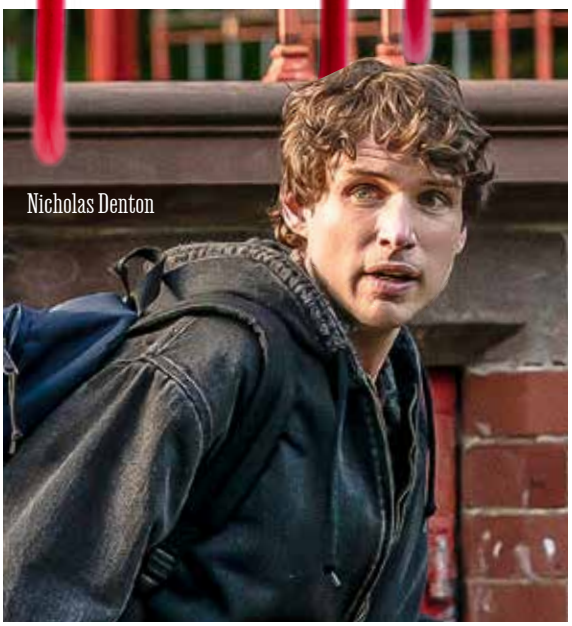

This is just the tip of the iceberg: In the books there are a series of first-person narrations called The Interludes that recount what characters are thinking and the murders that are happening in the town of Derry. The Muschiettis plan to make these even more important and instrumental in their story. "At the end of this show, which is planned to be three seasons, the audiences will have a sense that the movies and even the book was just the tip of a much more broad and richer story," Andy teases. The duo plan to tap into the bigger mythology that is hinted in the book and answer some of the questions the mysteries in the book present.

That first episode was beyond fun to film: "It was so gross and disgusting … we had a lot of fun because everyone was grossed out but in a good way," Andy shares. "The scene itself is so bizarre … the season finale, too, because there's so many things happening at the same time."

You'll never look at a pickle jar the same way after this: "I loved the pickle scene," Barbara shares. "We used real pickles. The whole studio, and I'm talking about a very big building with a lot of stages, smelled like pickles for days."

You don't have to watch the movies before the prequel, but it's definitely recommended. "You can definitely watch the first season without having seen the movies," Barbara tells. "But we recommend watching the movies first because there are special winks and Easter eggs that you are going to miss. But you are still going to enjoy it completely and be terrified by it." — Barb Oates

2 ANNE RICE'S TALAMASCA: THE SECRET ORDER

Sundays beginning Oct. 26 on AMC

NEW SERIES!

After serving up two acclaimed seasons of bloodsuckers and spellcasters with Anne Rice's Interview With the Vampire and Mayfair Witches, AMC is expanding its Immortal Universe with a third entry that binds the pair even more.

Nicholas Denton (Dangerous Liaisons) stars as Guy Anatole, an NYU law school grad with a "gift that he thinks is more of a curse," the actor told us on the Manchester, England, set last winter. Early in the premiere, he crosses paths with the enigmatic Helen (Elizabeth McGovern), who invites him to join the titular shadowy group devoted to keeping tabs on vamps, witches and ghouls.

Once Guy signs on, Talamasca wastes no time establishing its distinctive John le Carré vibe. There are aliases, stolen files, confidential intel, high-tech surveillance equipment, low-rent hideaways, plus the Cold War energy of the Talamasca motto: "We watch and we're always there." Interview and Mayfair are sexy and Gothic, but this is scrappy, gritty and far scarier.

Interview's Daniel Molloy (Eric Bogosian) even pops up, and Guy eventually heads to the U.K., where he meets a brutal night-dweller, Jasper (William Fichtner), and a witch, Doris (Celine Buckens), with murky ties to his bosses.

Unlike Interview (titled The Vampire Lestat for Season 3) and Mayfair, this one isn't based on any novels. The supernatural CIA previously established in the Immortal shows is an "unexplored element of Rice's [literary] universe," says executive producer Mark Lafferty. And that blank spot in Rice's canon makes for a bloody-fun spy thriller perfect for Halloween time. — Damian Holbrook

BOSTON BLUE

Fridays beginning Oct. 17 on CBS

NEW SERIES!

Can Boston Blue be the law enforcement family show to bring viewers back for Friday night dinner on CBS?

Cocreators Brandon Margolis and Brandon Sonnier didn't plan for their new series about a cop relocating to Boston to be near his son and their friendship with the Silvers — a close-knit clan packed with police and a DA — to become a Blue Bloods spinoff, but they jumped at the chance. Only a few tweaks were needed to insert Danny Reagan, Donnie Wahlberg's rough-around-the-edges New York detective, into the scenario — if they could get him. They did. After valiantly but fruitlessly trying to keep the iconic Blue Bloods from cancellation, says Wahlberg, "When the opportunity came to expand that universe with Danny, I couldn't say no to carrying on that legacy."

When the series opens, Danny has transferred to the Boston P.D. when his son Sean (Reacher's Mika Amonsen, replacing original BB actor Andrew Terraciano) has a crisis during his time at the BPD academy. The Silvers befriend the homesick Sean, whom their son Jonah (Marcus Scribner) met during police training, inviting him home for dinner. Sonnier admits that the family is inspired by the Reagans, "who are all about faith, family and service," but with one twist. "Like my family," he adds, "the Silvers are Jewish and multiracial" — and their weekly get-together "is a Friday night Shabbat meal."

Matt Lauria and Morena Baccarin

4 SHERIFF COUNTRY

Fridays beginning Oct. 17 on CBS

NEW SERIES!

It's high time Morena Baccarin got her High Noon moment! "She gets more than one," raves Matt Lopez, the showrunner for this high-caliber Fire Country spinoff centered on the fabulously commanding Sheriff Mickey Fox (Baccarin). Introduced in a pair of episodes over the past two seasons of CBS' hit drama as the aunt of Fire's Bode (Max Thieriot) and stepsister of his Cal Fire boss Sharon (Diane Farr), the straight-shooting Mickey is now facing the heat of protecting and serving the shows' fictional town of Edgewater, California. And from the very eventful pilot, Mickey and her portrayer are more than up for the job.

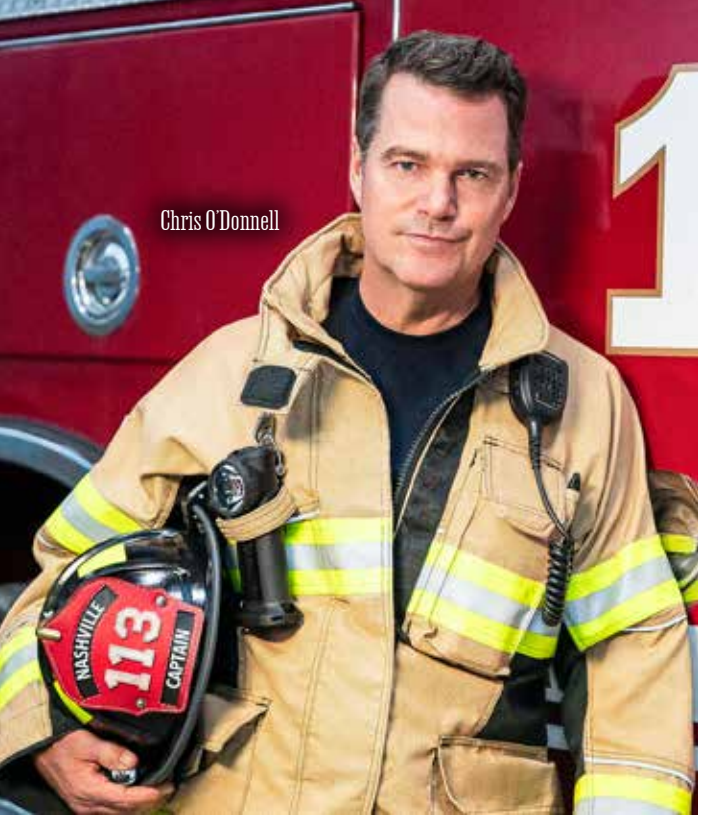

Baccarin "is a great leader, she's a great actor and I've enjoyed her performances for years," continues Lopez (Promised Land) of the Homeland Emmy nominee. "One of the things she and I talked about was great Western heroes — Clint Eastwood, Gary Cooper — and the tropes that we play in. But [then we] subvert it because that classic American sheriff, let's face it, is unfailingly a man."

Kicking off with a series of small-town emergencies, the show quickly introduces the folks closest to Mickey, including her daughter Skye (Amanda Arcuri), partner Nathan Boone (Matt Lauria), mentee deputy sheriff Cassidy Campbell (Michele Weaver), assistant Gina (Caroline Rhea) and Mickey's ex-husband Travis Fraley (Christopher Gorham).

The connective tissue tying Sheriff to Fire, aside from the shared location, is established in a crossover by Thieriot and the return of Mickey's father Wes (W. Earl Brown), a colorful weed dealer shown in Baccarin's second guest spot on the flagship.

How these folks intersect is all a part of the ride — the final moments of the premiere are wild — and Baccarin is having a blast getting to play someone both fiercely principled and frequently flawed. Not to mention all of the action that comes with being a crime-fighter, or the shady situations one may encounter in a seemingly idyllic suburbia. "Cops and robbers, intrigue, mystery, solving crimes, small-town togetherness … and it's also funny," says Baccarin. "It's so much fun. I pinch myself every day." — Damian Holbrook

5 9-1-1: NASHVILLE

Thursdays beginning Oct. 9 on ABC

NEW SERIES!

Trailers trapped in perilous places, tornadoes … the 9-1-1 franchise is blowing into Music City at full speed! "We're going to get a bunch of crazy emergencies where people end up in places they shouldn't be," laughs showrunner Rashad Raisani of the latest installment of the first-responder drama. But disasters won't just be of the natural order with this one. Raisani admits that there is a soapy side to the action as Capt. Don Hart (NCIS: L.A. vet Chris O'Donnell) deals with a firehouse full of hotblooded heroes and a scandal surrounding the wealthy family of his wife Blythe (Grey's Anatomy's Jessica Capshaw). Toss in LeAnn Rimes as a failed singer looking for a big break and the wild city nightlife, and we're in for something even juicier than Nashville's hot chicken! — Damian Holbrook

6 DMV

Mondays beginning Oct. 13 on CBS

NEW SERIES!

In this new workplace comedy, it's hard to tell who is having a worse time: patrons of the East Hollywood DMV branch or its eclectic mix of employees, who are faced with a plethora of problems. Whether it's drivers advanced beyond their years reapplying for a license, serial lunch stealers or inspectors evaluating usefulness, this series covers a lot of ground … or, should we say, road.

Look for romantic tension between driving examiner Colette (Colin From Accounts' Harriet Dyer) and new desk worker Noa (Alex Tarrant). "We want it to be a slow burn," says showrunner Dana Klein of their relationship, citing the actors' chemistry as a highlight. "It has been just delightful to watch them in every scene that they're in together." — Meaghan Darwish

Tamera Mowry-Housley

Countdown to Christmas begins Oct. 17

7 BAKED WITH LOVE: HOLIDAY

Mondays beginning Oct. 27
on HALLMARK CHANNEL

NEW SERIES!

Last year, Hallmark fave Tamera Mowry-Housley served up a romance with a handsome baker (Carlo Marks) in the Hallmark movie Scouting for Christmas. Now, she's turning up the heat on 10 teams of home bakers for the network's new seasonally themed competition as they vie for a $50,000 prize.

In each episode, Mowry-Housley will put the contestants through good-natured challenges designed to put festive twists on their family recipes, then offer fresh takes on the goodies with her fellow judges, renowned Irish chef and restaurateur Anna Haugh (MasterChef: The Professionals) and New York Times cooking expert Vaughn Vreeland. But even with so much on her plate, Mowry-Housley still made time to dish out the deets on this sweet holiday treat.

First off, how is your baking? From your book, You Should Sit Down for This: A Memoir About Life, Wine, and Cookies, we know you love cookies.

Tamera Mowry-Housley: I love to bake! According to my family, I'm really good. [Laughs] My favorites to bake are peach cobbler, cookies, cupcakes, sweet potato pie and apple pie.

How would you describe these amateur cooks? Are they all couples? They are just the sweetest. Most of them are home bakers, which was really inspiring. What I love about this show is the different pairings — you have mother and daughter, father and son, and couples. It was awesome to witness how they all worked together. You can definitely see so much love between the teams.

Different cultures celebrate holidays in their own way. What dishes or recipes were you excited to try for the first time? My favorite cultural cuisine is Italian. So, I was really excited to try and see those.

What are the judges like? Since it's Hallmark, we're guessing nobody goes in on anyone for burning tartlets? Oh, they were just lovely — very precise, detailed, honest, constructive, but kind. Oh, and hilarious! [Laughs]

Without spoiling it, what was the biggest surprise of the season? From the first episode to the end, there wasn't a clear winner. The stakes from challenge to challenge were high.

Were there any tricks or tips that you stole from the contestants for your holiday baking plans? I actually stole an entire recipe of pecan cookies. [Laughs] Just kidding. I asked the beautiful bakers and they gave it to me. I can't wait to bake them. — Damian Holbrook

8 THE GOLD

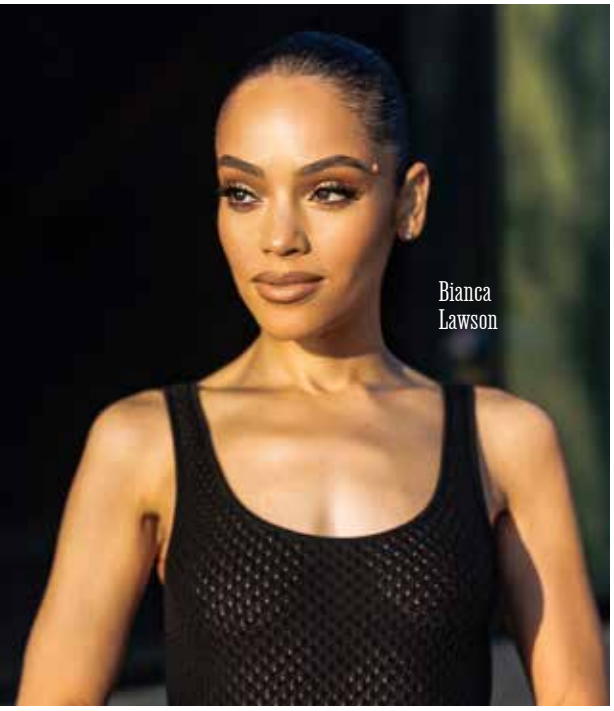

Sundays beginning Oct. 5 on PBS
NEW SERIES!

It was the criminal world's version of winning the lottery. In November 1983, six British burglars broke into a Brink's-Mat warehouse in London. Expecting to find a million pounds in cash, they instead uncovered much more: three metric tons of gold bullion. Their attempt to get away with stealing it sets this suspenseful British import — which originally aired on Paramount+ and is now a new part of the Masterpiece lineup — in motion.

Ultimately, the gold (in today's money, worth over 110 million pounds) was "disguised and sold into the market over a few years," series creator Neil Forsyth says. But it wasn't easy and involved more than 50 people, including corrupt cops and money launderers. "The show isn't black and white," adds Forsyth of the fact-based drama with Downton Abbey's Hugh Bonneville, Slow Horses' Jack Lowden and Dominic Cooper. "It is up to the viewer to make their own judgment." — Ileane Rudolph

Bianca Lawson

9 THE WIDOW'S PAYBACK

Saturday, Oct. 18 on LIFETIME

ORIGINAL FILM!

After inhabiting the intensely complicated world of Darla for seven years on Queen Sugar, actress Bianca Lawson was a bit nervous to return to another character, but this role hit home personally.

Inspired by true events, The Widow's Payback is the story of Amanda Bibbs (Lawson), a woman who spent years seducing the man who murdered her husband (her best friend) when authorities failed to put him behind bars.

"I had been going through my own grief about some things, personally," Lawson tells us when talking about the role. "Grief can freeze you up, you can feel powerless in its undertow. She found a direction for her grief. She didn't just accept what people were telling her — she trusted her instincts and channeled that grief and anger into action."

While everyone in Bibbs' life was minimizing her intuition about what may have happened to her husband, she refused to stay passive.

"She turned her grief into purpose," Lawson adds. "More importantly, she trusted her intuition. She was fearless in her faith in herself. Honestly, I was still a bit in the freeze/flight state personally in my life. I couldn't get into the fight state exactly. Amanda moved into an active state. Maybe on an unconscious level, a part of me hoped playing her may help me find my fight, my activation."

10 ICE ROAD TRUCKERS

Wednesdays beginning Oct. 1 on HISTORY

SEASON PREMIERE!

It was an occupation we all sat watching with our jaws dropped as truckers drove their rigs across miles of frozen lakes and rivers hauling vital supplies to remote locations in Canada and Alaska. It was one of the most-watched original History series at the time, as audiences clutched their couches, fearing trucks would run off the ice-covered paths or crash through the ice or that drivers would fall victim to fatigue from the endless highway hypnosis.

After an eight-year hiatus, History is bringing back the series for a 12th season. Veterans like Todd Dewey and Lisa Kelly are set to return along with newcomers, and all are determined to prove they have what it takes to reign supreme on the ice. With higher stakes, greater risks and bigger rewards than ever before, it's them vs. nature.

Robyn, Meri, Christine, Janelle and Kody Brown

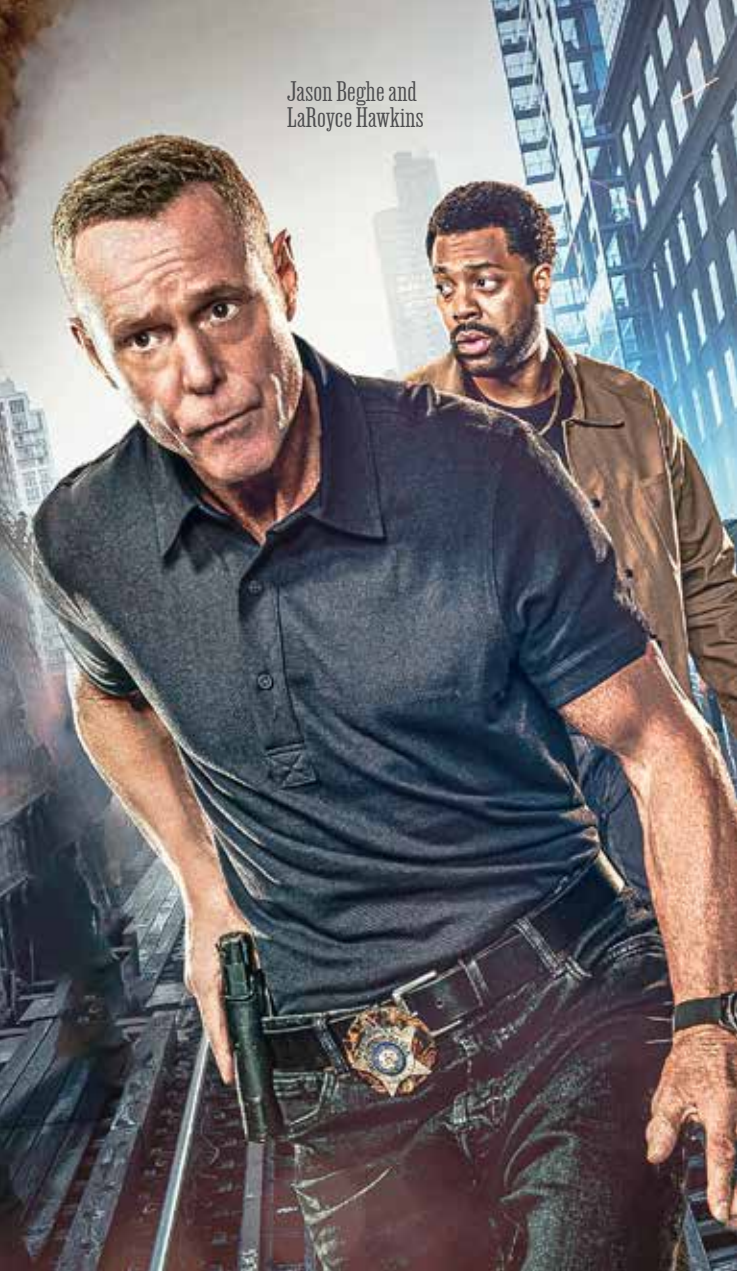

11 SISTER WIVES

Sundays beginning Sept. 28 on TLC

SEASON PREMIERE!

In the wake of multiple breakups, the Brown family will face major turning points in Season 20: Meri is dipping her toe into dating with an awkward but promising speed-dating event, while Janelle is taking steps toward a spiritual divorce after a freeing trip to New Orleans. Christine and David are settling into married life, but Christine is shaken when her kids begin moving to North Carolina near Janelle. Meanwhile, Kody is continuing to struggle with the aftermath of his fractured family. He wants to move again and start fresh, but healing is not so easy. To make peace, Kody meets one-on-one with his ex-wives to offer long overdue apologies. Can this once-unified family finally move forward without the bitterness and blame that's defined them for so long?

12 CHICAGO P.D.

Wednesdays beginning Oct. 1 on NBC

SEASON PREMIERE!

Chicago P.D. is back on the beat for Season 13, and after last season's dramatic highs and devastating lows, the Intelligence Unit has plenty to reckon with.

The Season 12 finale saw the shocking death of Deputy Chief Reid (Shawn Hatosy), an event that rocked the department and put Hank Voight (Jason Beghe) under a harsh new spotlight. The hour ended on a very different note, however, with longtime fan favorites Kim Burgess (Marina Squerciati) and Adam Ruzek (Patrick John Flueger) finally tying the knot in a heartfelt wedding that left viewers cheering.

Now, Season 13 picks up the pieces. "The first episode kicks us off a month after the events of our Season 12 finale," showrunner Gwen Sigan teases. "Voight is still navigating the fallout of his choices, and our team members are caught in the middle." Expect the premiere to carry immediate consequences, both personal and professional, as Voight's judgment and leadership come under fire.

The new season also welcomes fresh blood. The L Word: Generation Q alum Arienne Mandi joins the cast as a sharp, confident new recruit with a background in ATF undercover work. Joel Murray arrives as the new head of Internal Affairs, bound to stir tension with Intelligence as he digs into their methods.

Still, it won't be all tension and tragedy. After years of will-they-or-won't-they drama, Burgess and Ruzek finally have the chance to build a life together as husband and wife. "Married life may bring complications," Sigan hints, "but they kick off the new season strong, united — and still glowing from their big day."

With fresh faces, high-stakes cases and a Voight storyline that promises ripple effects, Chicago P.D. Season 13 is gearing up to be one of the most explosive — and emotional — yet.

Taylor Kinney

13 CHICAGO FIRE

Wednesdays beginning Oct. 1 on NBC

SEASON PREMIERE!

There are some new shake-ups (which begin in the very first episode) and a new addition to Firehouse 51 for Season 14 of the hit series. Chicago Fire showrunner Andrea Newman elaborates, saying, "Our first responders will be facing a new reality in their city, fraught with more danger than ever, and despite having changing crew dynamics, they'll once again need to find a way to pull together if they want to make it through alive."

Fans know from the season finale that Kidd (Miranda Rae Mayo) and Severide (Taylor Kinney) are expecting a baby, and more happiness came from knowing that Pascal (Dermot Mulroney) was proved innocent of trying to murder his wife's killer.

"Pretty early on in the season, Pascal will be confronted with how much he's really processed Monica's death and accepted the reality of losing her," Newman adds. "It's definitely a journey for him and affects both his work and personal life."

Brandon Larracuente (13 Reasons Why) is the new addition to Firehouse 51, playing the charming Sal Vasquez.

"Like Severide, this character is rich with family history in the first responder world, much of it buried. But not for long. Vasquez will prove a real challenge to Kidd, his new lieutenant, as well as to Novak [Jocelyn Hudon], as she tries to get to know this seemingly unknowable guy," Newman says. We also are saying goodbye to a few familiars in the firehouse, but in the Chicago Fire world, no character is ever gone gone.

Gothic Horror

CATCH A Classic!

TCM, beginning at 7am

Today, enjoy an all-day celebration of Gothic horror with a lineup of some of the most classic, beloved films of the genre. First is the silent adaptation of the Victor Hugo novel starring Lon Chaney, The Hunchback of Notre Dame (1923), followed by the 2000 documentary about Chaney's career, Lon Chaney: A Thousand Faces. Then comes more Lon Chaney in the 1925 silent film adaptation of Gaston Leroux's oft-adapted novel, The Phantom of the Opera (pictured, 1925). Following that is another adaptation, this time of the 1886 Gothic novella by Scottish author Robert Louis Stevenson: the Oscar-nominated horror film Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde (1941), starring Spencer Tracy, Ingrid Bergman and Lana Turner. Then, to close out the day, four lesser-known horror dramas: Isle of the Dead (1945), Bedlam (1946), Mark of the Vampire (1935) and House of Dark Shadows (1970).

Halloween Marathon [CATCH A CLASSIC!]

TCM, beginning at 6am

Halloween comes early on TCM, with an all-day Halloween-themed marathon that begins in the morning and continues all day as well as tomorrow. The extensive lineup for Halloween Eve includes the following spooky films: Two on a Guillotine (1965), What Ever Happened to Baby Jane? (1962), Spider Baby (1967), Freaks (1932), Horror of Dracula (1958), The Curse of Frankenstein (1957), The Leopard Man (1943), I Walked With a Zombie (1943), Cat People (1942), Nightmare (1964), Curse of the Demon (1958), Burn, Witch, Burn (1962), The Seventh Victim (1943), The Woman in White (1948) and The Hunger (1983).

"Halloween" on Halloween [CATCH A CLASSIC!]

AMC, beginning at 2pm

Celebrate the season with a chilling Halloween marathon featuring the iconic films that made Michael Myers a legend of horror, with Halloween (1978), Halloween II (1981), Halloween (2007), Halloween III: Season of the Witch, Halloween 4: The Return of Michael Myers and Halloween 5: The Revenge of Michael Myers. The marathon begins with Halloween III, as that film had a completely different narrative. John Carpenter and producing partner Debra Hill branched out, putting the previous story to rest and going with an Invasion of the Body Snatchers-like tale involving a plan to kill the children of the world via fragments of Stonehenge placed in Halloween masks. The masks turned their wearer into a mush of snakes and bugs, leading to one of the franchise's most memorable kills. Poor box office/critical reception for Halloween III led to The Shape's return in the next film, plus the introduction of a fan-favorite character.
