RANDOM RANTS &amp; RAVES

■ Why Wasn't Vanna Picked?

I don't know what the story is behind Ryan Seacrest taking over for the retiring Pat Sajak next year on Wheel of Fortune, but I'm sick of the guy. He took over on Live With Kelly, he does all those New Year's live events, it's just too much Ryan Seacrest. Why wasn't Vanna White given a shot at the main role, anyways? — Barbara Ryan Seacrest's career is pretty remarkable. Since he got his first big job in 2002 as the cohost of American Idol, opposite a now forgotten Brian Dunkleman, he's created quite an entertainment empire for himself and is raking in millions. The guy works hard! He leveraged his success on Idol and took over producing and red carpet hosting for E!, which led to taking over hosting and producing Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve, then Live With Kelly, then all things Kardashians and it just doesn't end. He's constantly reinventing himself.

In addition, he has his own radio show, podcast, menswear clothing (Ryan Seacrest Distinction, available at Walmart) and more. He also had a skincare line, Polished, for a short bit. As for Vanna, there's been no official word on why she wasn't offered the main job.

■ Can You Handle The Truth?

My question concerns To Tell the Truth with Anthony Anderson. The show aired its most recent episode last year, and it doesn't seem like it's on ABC's schedule at all in the impending future. The network hasn't commented on whether it's renewed or canceled, and they've really been setting a recent trend of doing this to their shows, just leaving them in endless limbo like Supermarket Sweep. Can you give me any new information about the show's return? — Kyle

It's true that unscripted and game shows often just fade away without

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY!

Notable TV series, episodes, networks and/or events celebrating anniversaries this month.

CANDID CAMERA

Originally known as Candid Microphone, which was its name when it debuted as a radio show in 1947, Allen Funt's hidden-camera concept came to television on Aug. 10, 1948, and by 1949 was retitled with its more famous name, Candid Camera. It aired off-and-on in various formats and across several networks until 2014.

65 YEARS AGO

CONCENTRATION

The original version of this classic game show aired on NBC from Aug. 25, 1958, to March 23, 1973, the longest continuous run of a game show on that network. Hugh Downs hosted Concentration from 1958 to 1969, followed by Bob Clayton.

Vanna White

official notice of cancellation, and that appears to be the case with To Tell the Truth. It isn't among the game shows being revived by ABC this summer, and it's no longer listed as an active series. (Same with Supermarket Sweep.) So yes, it's safe to say it's not coming back — until or unless the network decides otherwise.

■ “Big Sky” And “Alaska Daily” Cancellations

I was just shocked to learn that ABC canceled both Big Sky and Alaska Daily. I enjoyed both for the quality of the writing, including the quirkiness of Big Sky, and the championing of local journalism in Alaska Daily, not to mention having Hilary Swank as the star. So why? — Charlie

Any network drama that colors outside the lines of a formula procedural is a risky proposition, and as well-intentioned as Alaska Daily was, shows about journalism rarely succeed in this arena, regardless of star power. It's a shame. Big Sky had a different trajectory, starting strong with its shocking twists but fading in subsequent seasons (which is hardly rare), and when ABC's Will Trent broke out this season as an even quirkier take on a crime drama, that may have clinched Big Sky's demise. We predict tough times and more casualties ahead for network dramas as their parent companies and studios deal with an ever-changing industry and new economic pressures.

SUMMERSLAM

THAT (NAT GEO) '90S SHOW

Fun New Series Takes Us Back To The Decade That Ushered In The New Millennium. By Jeff Pfeiffer

As hard as it may be for some of us to comprehend or accept, the 1990s are now far enough removed from our present — not only in time, but also in technology, pop culture and a few social mores — that the decade warrants a historical overview.

Of course, studying history can be fun, and Rewind the '90s, Nat Geo's new series that looks back at that era, is a good time — whether you grew up in the '90s, were an adult who lived through them or were not even here at all yet.

Over the series' 10 hourlong episodes (with two installments airing Mondays from July 31 through Aug. 28), celebrities, eyewitnesses and pop culture pundits relive the most memorable moments of the 1990s. Each episode is focused on a particular theme, and they are comprehensive in covering major parts of that decade. A lot of that coverage deals with popular culture like TV, movies, music, etc., but the show also does a nice job of delving into other notable areas, like technology and the rise of cellphones and the World Wide Web, along with social changes in the decade.

Just as when you look back at your own personal past, this peek behind us at a decade from our collective history has both moments of which to be proud alongside those that are "what-were-we-thinking" cringeworthy.

What falls into either category might depend upon your personal history with the array of people and things featured in the series: toys like Beanie Babies, Furbys and electronic pocket pets; movies like Harry Potter, Titanic and Clueless; TV shows like In Living Color, Ellen, Xena: Warrior Princess, The X-Files and early reality programs; music and musical artists like Tupac Shakur, Backstreet Boys, TLC, Madonna and the Macarena; and lots more.

5 QUESTIONS WITH NISCHELLE TURNER

By Jacqueline Cutler

Nischelle Turner, cohost of Entertainment Tonight and host and producer of Secret Celebrity Renovation (returning to CBS Friday, Aug. 4), puts her journalism degree to use. Even a two-minute interview represents hours of research. The first Black woman to cohost the evening show, Turner also cohosts The Big Podcast With Shaq. On a break from juggling all of this work, Turner answers our “5 Questions.”

1 Who was the first celebrity you interviewed?
Ozzie Smith, a former St. Louis Cardinal. I was a reporter anchor in Evansville, Indiana. It was the best for me because I'm a big Cardinals fan.

2 When were you starstruck?
The very first time I interviewed Oprah, I was like, I don't even know what to say, how to move, what to do. And I walked into the room, and she gave me a high-five, and I still have a picture of it. And she was lovely, but I was completely petrified. And my first time interviewing Denzel Washington. He's great. Also, my first time interviewing Meryl Streep. I was about ready to pass out. I actually just had a moment a few months ago. It was such a great day, and I got to sit down with Carol Burnett, and it really was one of my favorite interviews that I've ever done. She is like a legend in all caps.

3 Since you've talked about this and many reporters had a similar experience, who was the most challenging celebrity interview?

Tommy Lee Jones. That's a given. That's, like, No. 1. Everything else is all the way down there. I can deal with anybody else, but it's him. This was for Men in Black. I tried everything. I got up and walked out of that interview. I was done. You can sit down with people, and maybe they're not the easiest interview, but honestly, if you're just going to be rude to me for the sake of being rude — I'm always going to go into an interview with respect, and you're not just going to disrespect people just because you can.

4 What is your ideal day?
I'm an early-to-bed, early-to-rise kind of girl, just always have been because my grandma was my caregiver, and we didn't play around in the Turner household. My ideal will probably be to keep my eyes closed a little after 7am and get up, not having much to do, go to dance class. It's my favorite thing; it's my happy place. Come back, put the grill on. Either have crab or lobster and sit by the pool and just chill out. Sit in the hot tub, sit by the pool, and hang out and catch up on Ted Lasso.

5 What has it been like as a producer on Secret Celebrity Renovation?

I love it! I get a hand in casting and whose stories we're telling. I'll reach out to people and say, “Hey, during the show, it's athletes and celebrities who go back to their hometown and just do something good for someone who's made a difference in their life, someone who's helped shape them to become the person we know today.” And I honestly don't think that I have put a call into anyone who has just said no.

Can Aaron Rodgers (wearing No. 8) lift the N.Y. Jets' fortunes?

SKY HIGH

The New York Jets Are Prepared For Takeoff.

By Ryan A. Berenz

NFL Preseason TV Highlights

Aug. 3: Hall of Fame Game: N.Y. Jets vs. Cleveland (at Canton, Ohio), NBC

Aug. 21: Baltimore at Washington, ESPN

Aug. 24: Indianapolis at Philadelphia, Prime Video

Aug. 25: Detroit at Carolina, CBS

Aug. 27: Houston at New Orleans, FOX

There's a reason to watch the N.Y. Jets again, and it's not to see a train wreck. The Jets swung a dramatic trade for quarterback Aaron Rodgers, a Super Bowl champion and four-time NFL MVP in 18 seasons with the Green Bay Packers, in the hope of ending a 12-season playoff drought and a skid of seven straight losing seasons.

Fans could see Rodgers in action with Gang Green when the NFL preseason starts Aug. 3 at the Hall of Fame Game in Canton, Ohio, where the Jets face the Cleveland Browns in primetime on NBC.

Two days later, coach Don Coryell and players Rondé Barber, Chuck Howley, Joe Klecko, Darrelle Revis, Ken Riley, Joe Thomas, Zach Thomas and DeMarcus Ware will be enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in a ceremony Aug. 5 on ESPN and NFL Network.

The NFL had a hard time finding a team that wants to be on HBO's Hard Knocks training camp documentary series, which starts its 18th season on Aug. 8. With Offensive Rookie of the Year Garrett Wilson, Defensive Rookie of the Year Sauce Gardner and now Rodgers in the fold, the Jets sound like the most appealing pick if the NFL has to force a team to be on the show. Hard Knocks in Season is expected to return in November for a third edition.

The league didn't have trouble finding a new TV home for studio show Inside the NFL, which begins its 47th season Sept. 5 on The CW.

The regular season kicks off Thursday, Sept. 7 with the Detroit Lions at the Super Bowl LVII champion Kansas City Chiefs on NBC.

THE STARS ARE ESPECIALLY BRIGHT ONCE AGAIN ON TCM

The Network's Annual Summer Under The Stars Event Returns. By Jeff Pfeiffer

Summer Under the Stars (SUTS), Turner Classic Movies' annual August programming favorite, returns this month, with the network again devoting each of the 31 days to films from a particular actor or actress. It begins Aug. 1 with a 14-movie salute to Lucille Ball, which is appropriate, given that this month marks the anniversary of the legendary comic actress' birth (Aug. 6, 1911).

Over the course of the month, eight stars will be spotlighted in SUTS celebrations for the first time. Below are this year's SUTS first-timers, along with movies making their TCM debuts during this celebration.

SUTS: Notable First-Time Stars

Anthony Perkins (Aug. 2) Anthony Perkins is justifiably remembered for chillingly embodying murderous mama's boy Norman Bates in the 1960 thriller Psycho, which of course will be featured during his first SUTS day. But you'll also see his range of talent across other titles, like his second film, Friendly Persuasion (1956), for which he received a Best Supporting Actor Oscar nomination and the Golden Globe for Most Promising Newcomer — Male; the 1957 biopic Fear Strikes Out, where he gives a terrific performance as troubled baseball player Jim Piersall; and more.

Stella Stevens (Aug. 3; memorial tribute) Stella Stevens' first SUTS celebration will also serve as a tribute to the late actress, who passed away Feb. 17 at age 84 (she was born Estelle Caro Eggleston on Oct. 1, 1938). Among the 12 Stevens films featured today are the Elvis Presley-led musical comedy Girls! Girls! Girls! (1962); the romantic comedy The Courtship of Eddie's Father (1963); Sam Peckinpah's comedic Western The Ballad of Cable Hogue (1970); and a couple of the campy cult classics Stevens started appearing in during the '70s, including the "blaxploitation" titles Slaughter (1972) and Cleopatra Jones and the Casino of Gold (1975).

Jackie Cooper (Aug. 4) John Cooper Jr., better known as Jackie Cooper, had an amazing big-screen career from his early days as a child star in the late 1920s to the late '80s. You'll see 15 films from roughly the first 15 years of that career as he appears during SUTS for the first time. Cooper had a notable first himself: He became, and still is, the youngest ever nominee for the Best Actor Oscar, for the comedy Skippy (1931), which is part of TCM's lineup. You'll also see him in The Champ (1931), Treasure Island (1934) and more.

Rhonda Fleming (Aug. 10; 100th birthday tribute) One of Hollywood's most glamorous actresses of the 1940s and '50s, Rhonda Fleming is getting her first SUTS celebration on the 100th anniversary of her birth (she was born Marilyn Louis on Aug. 10, 1923; she passed away Oct. 14, 2020, at age 97). In several of the 13 films featured in TCM's lineup, you'll see why the highly photogenic Fleming became known as the "Queen of Technicolor," but her beauty and talent shine through in the black-and-white productions, as well. Among the highlights during this day are the film noir classic Out of the Past (1947), the musical comedy A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court (1949) and the historical adventure Serpent of the Nile (1953), with Fleming as Cleopatra.

Other SUTS First-Timers

The Nicholas Brothers
(Aug. 9)

Katy Jurado (Aug. 16)

Geraldine Chaplin
(Aug. 22)

John Carradine
(Aug. 31)

SUTS: First-Time Films (TCM Premieres)

Aug. 3 (Stella Stevens):
Slaughter (1972; airs late-night)

Aug. 9 (The Nicholas Brothers): My Son Is Guilty (1939)

Aug. 22 (Geraldine Chaplin): Honeycomb (1969); Anna and the Wolves (1973); Stress-es tres, tres (Stress Is Three, 1968; airs late-night)

Aug. 29 (Woody Strode): Winterhawk (1975)

Aug. 31 (John Carradine): I Escaped From the Gestapo (1943)

Former hedge fund mogul Bobby "Axe" Axelrod (Damian Lewis) returns on the brainy financial drama Billions' final season with his charming ruthless confidence intact. Having fled to Switzerland to avoid arrest by the now-former Attorney General Chuck Rhoades (Paul Giamatti) on trumped-up money laundering charges, "Bobby wants back in the game," says Lewis (who left the show to spend time with family after his wife died of cancer in 2021). We eagerly anticipate Bobby's two-pronged attack against the shady wannabe POTUS Michael Prince (Corey Stoll), who bought Axelrod's huge assets way below market price, and his longtime nemesis Chuck, though he, too, is targeting Prince. Here Giamatti and Lewis talk about doing time on Billions.

Damian, welcome back! Did you plan to return for the final season, or did you have to be convinced?

Lewis: Neither. I didn't expect to come back, but I wanted to in the end. Axe has a rock 'n' roll swagger that's fun to play, and all my colleagues on the show are my bros.

Paul, what did you miss most about the loss of your scene partner?

Giamatti: I missed it all; the too-tight pants, the swagger. The character is iconic and unique. It was vital to have him back. Also, he's a lovely chap and a lot of fun to act with.

Though beloved by many, Bobby has always been about money, whether it's acquired honestly or not. Has he evolved in any significant way?

Lewis: No, he hasn't. Bobby found a way to make money from a major global conflict [the Ukraine/Russia war] and he's doing business with a character you will enjoy seeing again. He's an old-fashioned opportunist who is just out to make dough. If he's the slightest bit likable, it's because he enjoys the friendship of the group. But he will turn quickly to maneuver to where he needs to be.

How much does he want revenge on Prince?

Lewis: I'll say any reentry into that story on Bobby's part might involve friends. There's dissatisfaction within the ranks left behind with Prince. There's still animus with Chuck, of course. But Bobby is [Gen.] Sherman-esque in his scorched-earth approach to business and life, so he's going to have to rebuild bridges.

Giamatti: Prince is such an interesting character. It was an attempt to create someone who did seem to try to be the good billionaire, but that seems to be a facade, which maybe makes him worse.

Is taking that guy down enough of a mutual mission for Bobby and Chuck to temporarily become allies, despite their deep distrust of each other?

Giamatti: Yeah. In reclaiming his throne [as U.S. attorney] for the Southern District, Chuck attempts to reclaim some moral compass. Maybe he'll try to do the right thing for the right reasons. Handing the reins of power over to [Prince], a selfinterested monster, is wrong and un-American. That becomes his mandate.

What role does Wendy Rhoades, Chuck's ex-wife and Bobby's adviser and almost lover, play in this season's machinations?

Giamatti: She's still maintaining this monkey-in-the-middle stance, trying to negotiate both sides, because she has her own feelings about Prince.

Lewis: If you're a fan of Billions, there's a long con always, and Wendy has proved herself as good a grifter as the next person, which is the overall arc for the show. I think, conclusively now, anyone who enters the sphere of the Billions world is corrupted by the money and power. That's the message, isn't it?

Giamatti: She may be the closest on the show to having a moral compass, but yes, she doesn't really survive the corrupting influences around her.

Does Chuck want to rekindle his marriage to Wendy? Does Bobby want to further the relationship he started with her?

Giamatti: Chuck still harbors feelings for her; that's dealt with this season.

Lewis: By far, the most profound relationship is between Chuck and Wendy. For Bobby, it would be an interesting, sexy thing for them to get together, but they know who they both are.

Taylor Mason (Asia Kate Dillon), now co-running Michael Prince Capital, tried to keep an ethical core too, no?

Lewis: Asia plays it so beautifully. It's odd that a character who is seemingly devoid of emotional impulses and tries to rationalize in an algorithmic way is seduced by Bobby more than anyone.

Would either of you consider guesting on one of the announced Billions spinoffs?

Lewis: I would say there is absolutely no chance that I'm going to jump into the Billions universe — Trillions, Gazillions, any long-running spinoff. But if somebody came up with a fabulous 90 minutes with a really good grift or con. ... If Mr. Giamatti and Mr. Lewis would reunite [as Chuck and Bobby] on the silver screen, I would love that.

Giamatti: This would not fall outside of my realm of possibility.

Billions* is stuffed with extraordinarily complex financial maneuvers. Did you understand the markets when you came on the show? How about now?

Giamatti: A lot of it went over my head. Now I get the gist of it, but fortunately, I didn't have to do a lot of the financial talk.

Lewis: Before I started the show, I couldn't have told you what betting long or short on a stock meant. Now I know a bit more about bonds and sovereign funds and a bit more about the nefarious ways of the wealthy and powerful!

Billions* returns to Showtime Sundays beginning Aug. 13

2 THE WINTER KING

Sundays beginning Aug. 20 on MGM+
NEW SERIES!

Chivalry is not dead — at least onscreen. See the countless film and TV versions of the medieval King Arthur legend, in which good and brave knight Arthur Pendragon battles for the heart and soul of a kingdom. This 10-episode drama, based on author Bernard Cornwell's trilogy and set in fifth century Britain, has a fresh tilt that makes the hero even more impressive: his painful origin story as an outcast.

"Arthur is trying to reconcile with childhood trauma and face the harsh realities of what it means to become a leader for [moral] good," says star Iain De Caestecker (Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D.). "We first meet him living under the weight of the title of bastard son, having spent his life all but rejected by his father."

That would be High King Uther (Eddie Marsan, Ray Donovan), who unjustly banishes Arthur. Eventually, the wizard Merlin (Nathaniel Martello-White) tracks him down in Gaul, where Arthur has made a reputation for himself as a great fighter. He is convinced to return and unite Britain's warring tribal kings against the invading Saxons. "Their army is an unparalleled threat," says De Caestecker.

Brave as he is in battle, the gallant Arthur has a weakness — his love interest, Guinevere (Jordan Alexandra). "They're forced to decide between their rigid codes of honor or their hearts," the actor says. "Things quickly get out of hand." — Kate Hahn

3 SECRETS OF PENTHOUSE

Monday, Aug. 21 and Tuesday, Aug. 22 on A&E
NEW LIMITED SERIES!

A&E continues its exploration of adult publishing with this new four-episode limited series based on Brooklyn-born Bob Guccione's rise and fall as the creator of the sexually explicit Penthouse magazine. Guccione first launched the magazine in the U.K. in 1965, clear competition to the well-established Playboy magazine (1953) but with a darker and racier photo/edit offering, and within four years he moved it to the United States, where he became one of the wealthiest men. His launch of the title also began a bitter battle with Hugh Hefner. At its peak, Penthouse was distributed to over 5 million subscribers a month in the 1970s. When Guccione died in 2010, he had lost his entire fortune. Now, with access inside the family and to those who knew him best, many of whom have never spoken on this subject before, this series reveals the truth about Guccione and explores the impact he had on those closest to him.

4 WINNING TIME: THE RISE OF THE LAKERS DYNASTY

Sundays beginning Aug. 6 on HBO
SEASON PREMIERE!

"My friends, the future of sport is purple and gold," boasts Los Angeles Lakers owner Dr. Jerry Buss (John C. Reilly) in HBO's teaser trailer for Season 2 of the drama Winning Time: The Rise of the Lakers Dynasty. The seven-episode second season picks up after the Lakers' 1980 NBA championship and the birth of the franchise's "Showtime" era. A powerful rival emerges in the Boston Celtics, led by Larry Bird (Sean Patrick Small), and the show's season culminates in the epic 1984 NBA Finals between the two clubs. The cast also features Quincy Isaiah as Magic Johnson, Adrien Brody as Pat Riley, Jason Clarke as Jerry West, Sally Field as Jessie Buss, McCabe Slye as Jimmy Buss, Jason Segel as Paul Westhead, Gaby Hoffmann as Claire Rothman and Michael Chiklis as Red Auerbach.

5 RUN THE BURBS

Mondays beginning July 31 on THE CW
NEW SERIES!

Starring and cowritten by Kim's Convenience's Andrew Phung, this beloved Canadian comedy about a contemporary Vietnamese-South Asian family living life to the fullest in the suburbs makes its U.S. debut with a feel-good sense of humor and an upbeat attitude. You don't have to be Canadian or Vietnamese or even an immigrant to enjoy the show; it's relatable because it's about family.

But if you are an immigrant, it's more so. "We often see immigrant families on the screen, but I want to see the generation below that, the next one. How do they raise their kids?" Phung, who plays the father, Andrew, explained about the inspiration behind the show. "I often joke that the second generation raises their kids with one foot in North America and one foot in their parents' country."

Phung also wanted to revitalize the idea of the suburb on television. "For so many people, the suburbs are a place you go to actually thrive.

We're pivoting the camera one house over to the family that's always existed in your neighborhood," Phung said. "On top of that, we wanted to make it relatable to being millennial parents. Don't go in expecting Kim's Convenience, because it's a different family, but this is a spiritual continuation. It's the slice of life, the day-to-day." — Zhanna Stor

6 THE MEGA-BRANDS THAT BUILT AMERICA

Sundays on HISTORY

It's not often a brand gets an epic plug like Wilson did back in 2000, when Tom Hanks befriended its volleyball (and kept the name, Wilson) and won viewers' hearts in the blockbuster hit Cast Away. The brand's original story as a top sporting goods company, however, isn't as well known and dates back to 1913 Chicago and meatpacking (they manufactured gut strings for tennis rackets as a means of using animal byproducts). History continues to fascinate us with two new episodes of its Mega-Brands That Built America series delving into these surprising origin stories behind some of the world's biggest brands and their trailblazing founders. In "Whole New Ballgame" (Aug. 6) you'll meet the pioneers behind some of America's most beloved sports: A.G. Spalding (think basketballs), Wilson and Rawlings (think baseballs). The following week (Aug. 13) puts the spotlight on "Dirty Work," looking at Harley Procter and James Gamble of Procter & Gamble, and King Gillette and Jacob Schick, whose bitter rivalry revolutionized the shaving business, spawning a billion-dollar industry.

7 TIME OF ESSENCE

Fridays beginning Aug. 18 on OVN
NEW SERIES!

Featuring interviews with Halle Berry, Vanessa Williams, Whoopi Goldberg and many other stars, as well as former employees, this five-part docuseries tells the history of the trailblazing beauty magazine Essence and how it has informed and reflected Black culture for 50-plus years. Beginning with its turbulent start in the 1970s, which included shareholder wars and a revolving door of editors-in-chief, each one-hour episode focuses on a different decade of the magazine's existence. In addition to covering the history of the magazine, cultural icons and former Essence writers and editors discuss the biggest moments from the world at large that were covered by Essence journalists; they also cover the huge cultural shift of inclusion with shows like The Cosby Show and The Oprah Winfrey Show that Essence helped to instigate. "Women would say they had a Bible on their night table and an Essence," quips former Essence staffer Harriette Cole on the significance of the magazine, which was the first of its kind. Candid commentary is paired with never-before-seen footage, creating a window into the world of this revolutionary cultural publication as well as a trip down memory lane.

8 RECIPE FOR DISASTER

Saturdays beginning Aug. 5 on THE CW
NEW SERIES!

This new cooking reality series will pit three professional chefs against each other as they are partnered with novices and challenged by various simulated disasters and high-pressure situations. Each week the studio will transform into a different location with a different premise, such as a desert island in monsoon season or an alien-infested Mars; competitors must create the best dishes under the worst circumstances in order to be crowned the Masters of Disaster. The series premieres with two back-to-back episodes.

9 BIG BROTHER

Wednesdays, Thursdays and Sundays
beginning Aug. 2 on CBS
SEASON PREMIERE!

Adapted from a Dutch show, the reality competition series Big Brother debuted in the U.S. on July 5, 2000, and gave voyeuristic viewers the opportunity to watch the goings-on of Houseguests as they tried to avoid eviction and claim the $500,000 prize. More than 22 million people tuned in to the premiere, but only about half that audience returned the following night. The show had a major overhaul for Season 2, with the competition elements ramped up and the episodes cut down from 70 to a more digestible 30. This summer, expect a lot of throwbacks to past seasons as Big Brother returns for its milestone 25th edition with a 90-minute premiere episode. Julie Chen Moonves is back as host.

MOUNTAIN MEN

Thursdays beginning Aug. 24 on HISTORY

SEASON PREMIERE!

Could you drop all the conveniences of modern society and learn how to live off the land and survive? Off-the-grid living is more popular than ever, and we can thank History's favorite mountain men and women for showing us how to master the craft. Mountain Men, starting Season 12, welcomes back fan favorites, as well as a handful of new cast members and locations. We tracked down Chris Richardson, an executive producer, former cameraman and now president of Warm Springs Productions (which shoots the series) to find out what we can expect. First, rest assured, the 80-year-old Tom Oar is returning and continues his hunting and trapping. "He's a true craftsman who has become a beloved mentor to a new generation of mountain men and women in Northwest Montana," Richardson shares. Oar joins Eustace Conway, Jake Herak, brothers Kidd and Harry Youren, and a few newcomers. "Eustace takes on some new challenges traveling away from his Turtle Island homestead to complete unique projects that even he has not attempted before," Richardson says. "Jake and his dogs chase mountain lions away from the ranches of Southwest Montana in their toughest season yet. Treeing mountain lions is wild and unpredictable, but Jake was also confronted by the heavy snow and even got stranded on the mountain for a night."

As for the newbies, camera crews will follow Ray Livingston, an outdoor survivalist putting down roots in the mountains of Northeast Washington; Paul Antczak, who makes a living as an elite trapper of predators who is looking to further his remote life by buying a plot of land in Northwest Montana (enter Tom Oar!); and Aron Toland and his wife, Jen, a Canadian couple living on a remote off-grid homestead hundreds of miles from civilization on a lake in British Columbia.

"This winter much of the western U.S. and Canada received record snowfall, which proved to be a daunting challenge for all," Richardson says. "Everyone's skills and grit were put to the test." — Barb Oates

THE WILD SIDES

Saturdays beginning Aug. 5 on BBC AMERICA

NEW SERIES!

BBC America's "Wonderstruck" nature programming block on Saturdays features this new three-part documentary series exploring the wildlife of Mashatu in Botswana, where elephants, cheetahs, leopards, jackals and baboons coexist in an unforgiving ecosystem. In the premiere, "The Drought," the region's four-year dry spell is at its worst, and animal species struggle to maintain the balance of cooperation and competition to survive. Then in "Flood and Foes," the desperately needed rains finally arrive, but the relief they bring also brings danger in the form of a pride of lions looking for food. In the finale, "Growing Up," Mashatu has become a lush and fruitful land after the rains, and animal families welcome their next generation. Danger lurks even closer, as the lions see the young as easy prey.

Miguel Wants to Fight

Available Aug. 16

In this coming-of-age comedy, Miguel (Tyler Dean Flores) and his three best friends engage in a series of comedic misadventures as he tries to get into his first fight. Why is he trying to get into a fight? Well, because he is a teenage boy who gets some upsetting news and can't bear to tell his friends about it. Also, he lives in a rather violent neighborhood, and feels left out.

"Miguel is just surrounded by fighting. His dad's a boxing coach," director Oz Rodriguez said about the titular character and his friends, who seem to get involved in street fights fairly regularly. "But he only likes the film version of fighting."

Though the film is primarily for younger audiences, it is relatable to anyone who has ever been a teenager or been a part of a community like this one. The setting, a lower-income neighborhood of Syracuse, is so important it practically becomes a character. "We embraced the fact that we were in Syracuse. We were trying to find the communities of color, especially Latinos. We just wanted to show all kinds of aspects of the town and the community," Rodriguez added. "We shot at a real gym and used real boxers." So, does Miguel ever get his fight? You'll have to watch to find out! — Zhanna Slor

Winning Time: The Rise of the Lakers Dynasty Available Aug. 6

The Los Angeles Lakers' heated rivalry with the Boston Celtics moves to center court in Season 2 of this pulpy series about the birth of the purple-and-gold dynasty. Flamboyant playboy owner Jerry Buss (John C. Reilly) and his superstars — brash young point guard Magic Johnson (Quincy Isaiah) and crusty captain Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (Solomon Hughes) — established their fast-paced, high-flying brand of basketball, dubbed Showtime, in the first season, transforming the beleaguered franchise from drab to glam. Now, can the Lakers defend their title? The answer was no slam dunk. "Failure is difficult to deal with, but success in some ways is even harder," says cocreator Max Borenstein. Magic copes with a serious injury and has doubts about his comeback. "The very thing that makes you great — the ego, the drive — can also become your own worst enemy," Borenstein says. "[Magic] has to find a way to balance that with becoming a leader." The team also struggles with internal dissension when head coach Paul Westhead (Jason Segel) clashes with assistant Pat Riley (Adrien Brody) and the front office.

But the biggest hurdle this season, which spans 1980 to 1984, is the fierce face-off with the Celtics, led by smug superstar Larry Bird (Sean Patrick Small), who becomes Magic's enduring foil. "We're going to see those epic battles," Borenstein says, adding that until the Lakers can defeat the Celtics in the NBA Finals, "They're still considered pretenders to the throne." — Christopher Wallenberg

Summer Under the Stars: Sophia Loren

TCM, beginning at 3am

One of the last surviving superstars from the golden age of Hollywood, Italian actress Sophia Loren began acting at the age of 16, setting the world ablaze with her beauty and confidence after meeting famed Italian producer Carlo Ponti — who she would eventually wed — during a beauty pageant he was judging. Starring in hit films such as Two Women (1960), for which she won an Oscar and which is included in today's lineup, The Fall of the Roman Empire (1964), and Marriage Italian Style (1964), Loren was one of the most sought-after actresses for decades and remains one of the most beloved Hollywood icons of all time.

Rewind the '90s

Nat Geo, beginning at 9pm

The series concludes with back-to-back episodes. "Girl Power" shows how a new generation of women came of age in the 1990s, embracing and disrupting all aspects of femininity, whether it was trailblazing pop stars, media moguls, athletes, fictional fugitives or warrior princesses.

Then, "Decade of Disruption" explores the change and innovation in various areas of our culture across the '90s. From the boundary-pushing diversity of In Living Color and Ellen, to the ruthless reality of Madonna's Truth or Dare and the cellphone communication revolution, change was the only constant.
