Kakegurui Twin

Available Aug. 4

The Japanese Kakegurui Twin comics are adapted into this anime series that follows Mary Saotome, a new transfer student at a private academy, who learns that her new school has a strict hierarchical system determined not by academic achievements or athletic prowess, but by gambling. Can Mary adapt to this new world and carve out a future for herself at this school, without falling into debt?

Instant Dream Home

Available Aug. 10

Actress Danielle Brooks (Orange Is the New Black) is host and team leader for this series that is described as "part home renovation show and part heist movie." In the episodes, families are in for the surprise of their lives as their homes are totally transformed, and radically improved, in just 24 hours by Brooks and her team.

Mo

Available Aug. 24

This heartfelt comedy created and executive produced by comedians Mo Amer and Ramy Youssef follows Mo Najjar (played by Amer) as he straddles the line between two cultures, three languages and a ton of BS. Mo is a Palestinian refugee constantly living one step away from asylum on his path to U.S. citizenship when he and his family – including his sister, his older brother, and his resilient and spiritual mother – flee to Houston. Laughing the pain away, Mo learns to adapt to his new world even as getting ahead in life comes with several setbacks.

The Sandman

Available Aug. 5

This live-action adaptation of Neil Gaiman's (American Gods) beloved DC comic offers a rich blend of modern myth and dark fantasy in which contemporary fiction, historical drama and legend are interwoven. It follows the people and places affected by Morpheus (Tom Sturridge), the Dream King, as he mends the cosmic – and human – mistakes he's made during his long existence. The large ensemble cast also includes Gwendoline Christie, Charles Dance, Jenna Coleman, Joely Richardson, Stephen Fry, and the voices of Patton Oswalt and Mark Hamill.

The Girl in the Mirror

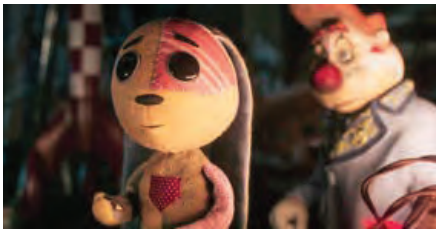

Available Aug. 19

In this supernatural thriller from Spain, after surviving a bus accident in which almost all of her classmates died, Alma (Mireia Oriol) awakens in a hospital with no memory of the incident, or of her past. With the help of her parents and friends, all unknown to her, Alma tries to uncover the mystery surrounding the accident while struggling to recover her identity.

Queer Eye: Brazil

Available Aug. 24

This latest international edition of the popular Queer Eye lifestyle and fashion makeover reality series follows Brazil's "Fab Five" – Fred Nicácio (well-being expert), Guto Requena (design), Rica Benozzati (style), Luca Scarpelli (culture) and Yohan Nicolas (beauty) – as they transform aspects of men's lives.

Lost Ollie

Available Aug. 24

This four-episode family series based on William Joyce's children's book Ollie's Odyssey combines live action and computer animation to tell the story of lost toy Ollie (voice of Jonathan Groff), who searches for the boy who lost much more than a best friend. The series is directed by Oscar winner Peter Ramsey (Spider-Man: Into the Spider-Verse), and also features Mary J. Blige, Tim Blake Nelson, Gina Rodriguez and Jake Johnson.

Selling the OC

Available Aug. 24

This spinoff of Netflix's hit docusoap Selling Sunset follows a fresh set of Realtors who compete to establish themselves at The Oppenheim Group's second office, in Newport Beach on California's Orange County coast.

Ron Howard and Brian Grazer are among the executive producers of this romantic comedy. Pressured by their parents to find spouses, Asha (Pallavi Sharda) and Ravi (Suraj Sharma) pretend to date in order to survive a summer of weddings. But they find themselves falling for each other as they struggle to balance who they are with who their parents want them to be.

13: The Musical

Available Aug. 12

Emmy winner Neil Meron (Jesus Christ Superstar Live in Concert) is a producer of this film adaptation of the 2008 Broadway musical that featured the first and only all-teenager cast (the 2008 production featured the professional debuts of future stars Ariana Grande and Elizabeth Gillies). This version is likewise largely led by a cast of youngsters as it tells the story of Evan Goldman (Eli Golden), who grapples with his parents' divorce following a move from New York City to small-town Indiana, while he also prepares for his impending bar mitzvah and navigates the complicated social circles of a new school. Rhea Perlman, Josh Peck and Debra Messing costar as some of the adults in Evan's life.

Look Both Ways

Available Aug. 17

This romantic dramedy follows Natalie (Lili Reinhart), who, on the eve of her college graduation, finds her life diverging into two parallel realities: one in which she becomes pregnant and must navigate motherhood as a young adult in her Texas hometown, the other in which she moves to L.A. to pursue her career. Danny Ramirez, Andrea Savage and Nia Long costar.

Me Time

Available Aug. 26

Kevin Hart and Mark Wahlberg headline this comedy in which Hart plays a stay-at-home dad who finds himself, for the first time in years, with a little "me time" while his wife and kids are away. He reconnects with his former best friend (Wahlberg) for a wild weekend that nearly upends his life. Regina Hall also stars.

Loving Adults

Available Aug. 26

In this twisty Danish thriller where nothing is what it seems to be, it appears that Christian (Dar Salim) and Leonora (Sonja Richter) have it all. They are living the perfect life with their son, who has just been declared healthy after a long-term severe illness. Their future finally seems bright, but at a party at Christian's company, Leonora sees her husband with a younger woman, the architect Xenia (Sus Wilkins). Leonora realizes that Christian might leave her, but how could he leave the woman who has sacrificed everything to take care of their son and their family? On the spot, Leonora makes a decision: By any means necessary, she will refuse to be the woman who got left behind.

Rise of the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles: The Movie

Available Aug. 5

This animated film continues the tale of the popular turtle superheroes as depicted in the 2018-20 Nickelodeon series Rise of the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles.

Day Shift

Ophira and Tali Edut

Cosmic Love

Available Friday, Aug. 12

Think The Bachelor meets astrology for this one-of-a-kind social experiment, where four individuals attempt to find their perfect spouse via astrological matchmaking. Their romantic adventure takes place at a retreat where they will mingle, match, date, eliminate and eventually make the biggest decision of their lives … will they marry their match based solely on their astrology? The show's astrologers are bestselling authors Ophira and Tali Edut (The AstroTwins), who guide these singles throughout the season by way of the mysterious Astro Chamber (voiced by Cree Summer). Here the AstroTwins answer a few of our questions.

What was the first time you remember someone telling you about your zodiac sign and what was your initial thought about it? What did you originally want to study when you were young?

Ophira: Our interest in astrology, believe it or not, began with a paper route! At age 11 we had an after-school job delivering The Detroit News. For two years, we would have to open the papers to put coupon circulars inside, and when we did, we'd always open to the page with the comics and the horoscopes. That started our curiosity. We both wanted to be artists and did end up going to art and design school at the University of Michigan.

Tali: While there, Ophira's boyfriend gifted her a printed astrology chart, which was a 30-page bound document with all this mind-blowing information. We were shocked that this computerized chart could know so much about us, so we found some software (this was in the early 1990s) and started doing all of our friends' charts to practice and learn.

Fast forwarding to today, could you tell us how you will be guiding singles in Cosmic Love? How often are you coaching?

Tali: The premise of Cosmic Love was a fascinating twist because we did most of our work from behind the scenes. We looked through over 100 casting tapes, pored over birth charts and did extensive matchmaking for the show. We built out special missions for the cast, particularly for the four "elements" (our main cast members Connor, Noel, Maria and Phoebe), to help them put their astrological chart into practice one planet and point at a time. But during the filming we interacted with them through an earpiece and a gigantic special-effects orb in a room called the Astro Chamber. It was part of the experiment to keep a sense of mystery and watch astrology come alive through how they chose to follow – or not follow! – our advice. They'd come in one by one to get a reading and a mission, and to ask us questions about their matches as new ones were revealed throughout the show. You'll see us on-camera in a special appearance in one episode. Then you can binge and learn all about the astrology behind Cosmic Love in each episode with special X-ray videos we created for Prime Video.

How do you help the nonbelievers on understanding and benefitting from astrology?

Ophira: We like to say that astrology isn't a belief system. Rather it's a tool, like a calculator or a weather forecast, to show you where the stars are positioned relative to where you are on Earth at the moment, and what that means. All human beings are born with free will. But just as you use a GPS or a map in your car, or read instructions before operating an appliance, astrology can provide you with a shortcut, greater clarity or an overall better experience. It's not for everyone, but don't knock it till you try it! Do your full birth chart (you can do it for free at https://astrostyle.com/birthchart) and learn where every planet was when you were born. Your mind might just be blown, as mine was!

What's the biggest change/improvement you made in your own lives by applying your practices?

Tali: When we first started learning astrology we were skeptical but intrigued. We started experimenting with picking important dates based on our charts, from scheduling meetings to planning important events, to even looking back at life events and being amazed at how they lined up with the stars. That validation further convinced us that there was something to this ancient system. So now we check the chart for every major moment before we set a date in stone!

Ophira: Another big way astrology has helped me is with motherhood. Parenting is so confusing and overwhelming, and astrology showed me that kids actually do come with "instructions." It helped me so much raising my Leo stepdaughter Clementine and my Libra daughter Cybele. I'm able to let them be who THEY are, rather than trying to mold them into mini-me's.

She-Hulk: Attorney at Law

Available Wednesdays Beginning Aug. 17

This half-hour live-action series entry in the MCU stars Tatiana Maslany as Jennifer Walters, a lawyer who specializes in superhuman-oriented legal cases. It follows the single, 30-something professional as she navigates her complicated life – which becomes a lot more complicated when she begins turning into a powerful, 6-foot-7-inch, green-hued version of herself following a blood transfusion from her cousin, Bruce Banner, who, of course, has a similar issue. Mark Ruffalo reprises his film roles as Banner and Smart Hulk, and other MCU vets popping up here include Tim Roth as Emil Blonksy/the Abomination, who was introduced in 2008's The Incredible Hulk, and Benedict Wong as Wong, from the Doctor Strange films and other MCU entries. A notable newcomer to the MCU is Jameela Jamil as Titania, a super-strong rival of She-Hulk's in the comics.

I Am Groot

Available Aug. 10

Tree-like humanoid Groot, the fan-favorite character from the Guardians of the Galaxy movies and other big-screen entries in the Marvel Cinematic Universe (MCU), takes center stage (as Baby Groot) in his own series of five animated shorts, all available at once. These shorts also feature several new and unusual characters as they explore Groot's days of growing up – and getting into trouble. Vin Diesel, who voices Groot in the films, does the same here. James Gunn, director of the Guardians movies, is an executive producer.

The Resort

First Three Episodes Available July 28; Subsequent New Episodes Available Thursdays

Described as a "multigenerational, coming-of-age love story disguised as a fast-paced mystery about the disappointment of time," this series finds an anniversary trip putting a marriage to the test when the couple find themselves embroiled in one of the Yucatan's most bizarre unsolved mysteries, which took place 15 years prior. Sam Esmail (Mr. Robot) is one of the executive producers of the series, whose ensemble cast is led by William Jackson Harper, Cristin Milioti and Nick Offerman.

The End Is Nye

Available Aug. 25

This fun and informative series is hosted and executive produced by famed "Science Guy" Bill Nye. In each of the six 45-minute episodes, Nye is placed into one of the most epic global disasters imaginable, natural and unnatural, and then demystifies it for the audience by using science to show how we can survive, mitigate and even prevent such a catastrophe. While the installments present mystery, terror and thrills, they also offer hope and a way forward through a scientific blueprint for surviving anything that comes our way. Seth MacFarlane, who also helped bring the revival of Cosmos to television, is an executive producer here, and the longtime science advocate will make a brief cameo in each episode.

The Undeclared War

Available Aug. 18

Set in 2024, this six-part cyberthriller tracks a leading team of analysts buried in the heart of Britain's GCHQ intelligence organization who are secretly working to ward off a series of cyber-attacks in the U.K. in the runup to a general election. When a routine stress test of internet infrastructure goes awry, 21-year-old GCHQ intern Saara Parvan (Hannah Khalique-Brown) suddenly finds herself operating on the invisible frontier of high-stakes cyber warfare. But how do you win a war most of the public doesn't know you're fighting? Mark Rylance, Simon Pegg and Adrian Lester also star.

Everything I Know About Love

Available Aug. 25

Set in a 2012 London house-share inhabited by four girls – childhood best friends and the series' central focus, Maggie (Emma Appleton) and Birdy (Bel Powley), along with their mates from university, Amara (Aliyah Odoffin) and Nell (Marli Siu) – this seven-episode comedy/drama offers an unflinching deep dive into bad dates, heartaches and humiliations, and begs the question: Can platonic love survive romantic love as we grow up? The series is based on Dolly Alderton's memoir, and the author is creator, writer and executive producer.
